This is not the time to apologize for standing on genuine principle and averse to the alleged beastly misconduct of weaponized sexual and/or slave-like abuse against young girls and women, just because colonial politicians believe they have white immunity from committing a plethora of injustices against Black Afrikan people. Including as also alleged in this tiny island, where one can find newspaper headlines stating, "The Rape Trial for Member of Parliament Neil Rowe is scheduled for...." With the same individual's two offspring allegedly arrested as "diplomatic passport carrying drug mules." The reprehensibly fiendish also practiced within the last hundred years against little boys, the mentally and physically disabled, in rare sickening cases, elderly women, as a rule on teenage boys, and young men. With the parliament accused of alleged participation, in their preference, as the main characters, and refusing to end the condemnable against the population. None of this despicably violent conduct is socially acceptable anymore and must be exposed everywhere it is found.

The political tyrants, their partners and supporters, always seem to want victims to grovel and genuflect at perpetration of crimes against the targeted, in an upside down rationalization, fueled and empowered by exemptions, expendable privileges, western titles, and other perks they enjoy at taxpayer's expense, all of which needs to be removed from black hands that pervert the already decadent system for personal thrills, deeply aligned with the superficial, and enjoy their predatory behavior as a bloodsport. The goal is purely to reduce and demean the feminine reign, destroy the masculine mental strength, so the spiritually lacking, empty political male officially designed in the 1950s-1960s, now joined by the equally hollowed out female since the 1970s-1990s coming forward, can hegemonize as the qualified failures they all are, in their world of artifice, particularly within the last 60 years of proficiency in only engineering and delivering illusions and delusions without solutions. With no other available skill sets, and want others to believe they own/control the western system's dead carcass, a comedy. We have been assailed by generational black evil in its rawest and most potent form which is long overdue for annihilation. Since this deplorable, humanity demoralizing application is now identified as normalized, acceptable and imposed on the people, within the boundaries of colonial precincts; in a petty, trifling bid to assert control and dominance, through imaginary power.

While satisfying depraved, unnatural appetites, and modeling themselves around for cameras everywhere with great pride. There are little to no consequences attached to those who wield this tool from a position of ruling over legislatures with anti-Black Afrikan, anti-human colonial policies upgraded, as our deadliest enemies. Instead of keeping their peculiarities to and amongst themselves. The breed of super predators, just like their forebears, have consumed Black Afrikan lives as a sense of false entitlement, and privilege for far longer than necessary, it is high time their elongated appendages, affixed in this era to both sexes, as stalkers, are pulled up by the roots from leechlike roles on black human flesh.

The operations of ritualistic cannibalism were finally recently addressed and confronted at the very highest global levels in the UN. No retreat, no surrender until the dangerous, manufactured, mechanical subspecies, who have all malfunctioned at the same time, so no longer useful to anyone, are identified and isolated.

Was Barbados' Development Sabotaged for 10 Years Leading Up to 2018 - TREASON??

Recently brought to our attention, on March 15, 2025 by a UK radio show, was the above scenario loaded with allegations. Throughout many years politicians were warned they do no due diligence to benefit taxpayers, and therefore, have no direct control as the eternally paid, licensed drudges of others since 1951, although pretending otherwise. Only aspiring to win the next election, uncaringly using hazardous tactics guaranteed to injure the vulnerable, and others, who vote for them and allegedly misusing available means, while employees of corporations, to one-up their fellow opposing partners, and keep the Black population in total darkness, then mislabel themselves as strategists. All indications are, they have finally strategized the people into another 500-years of debt to keep the nastiness of small island politics alive indefinitely, with absolutely no thought of addressing, or confronting the intense but reversible societal inflicted damage, trauma, self-hate, intensifying meltdowns, now manifesting within populations, throughout the region, directly attributed and connected to centuries of anti-black colonialism.

So it is no surprise to hear island management who have the propensity to allegedly sell Black people for any price and to anyone, while taking liberties as solicits; are accused of making absolutely sure development on the island was deliberately arrested, so never happened, (a tort?) to gratify narcissistic local political ambitions, as a stepping stone to international fanfare, a five-minute wonder, faking it to make it, recently unraveled magnificently, leaving the auditioners blindsided. O Karma!! People can show receipts associated with these repugnant deeds, so erroneously believing they would see success in that arena, as some power hungry, two-face actor(s), when elected, failed miserably as they too carry the same level of ineptness, as the other two wings, one bird party; and despite the rarest world-size opportunity made available within the last seven years to elevate Black Afrikan people in the Americas but discarded, in lieu of ending up right back where they started, in circumstances of unceasing beg, borrow, depend and sell everything, with a one-horse economy in tow, now defunded. The true definition of reaping exactly what you sow.

While their visionless cheerleaders got ready to celebrate recently, seeing calamity as a mark of glory, however, were satisfyingly pulled in to confront stark reality, in real time. There is nothing to gain by remaining persistently lacking pertinent information of one's socio-fiscal surroundings. Without reviewing your current non-existent abilities for foundational introspection, and have no expertise to make any significant contribution toward shifting the now contaminated space to make things better for self or the general populace. A learned flaw associated with the religious and political slave mind. While wasting precious time listening to and routing for dapperly dressed-up beggars, calling themselves leaders, who think everything is about them. Even though recently finding out centuries later, they are still prisoners-of-war in the west, but without perception of the ramifications. However, this ongoing predicament and onslaught does not compute within programmed minds, so nothing will be done to extricate from the noose to realize freedom for them and their future generations, when in the deepest throes of psychological battering. Personally, I do not appreciate being ambushed as a hostage in unchanging bondage, to individually benefit popularity contestants who crow, primp, and do very little else; have nothing to offer but the bare minimum to diligently sustain themselves and fellow public nuisances only.

Was Barbados' Development Sabotaged for 10 Years Leading Up to 2018 - TREASON??

Tens of thousands of Black people suffered needlessly during that decade's time frame, to now hear it was all an alleged well-planned "setup" should bring comeuppance to match the human rights crimes committed. Once the island lawyers are not too spineless to take this to an international court, as they are well known for not having the testicular fortitude to stand up for the people, in the face of alleged political bullies, thugs and thieves. It is noteworthy in this expanse, the people will have to act to save themselves from outlined expressions of imminent imperilment. If they do nothing except continue to sit, talk, post and wait like some now claiming they are "influencers", are experts on events in every other country's affairs, but cannot capsize the blighted excuse for a local network that keeps them stagnant and likely to stay that way for decades to come.

What they are actually doing is hiding behind laptop screens in their usual cowardly condition. While mysteriously describing themselves as "intelligentsia" and "intellectuals," waiting to be spoon fed, but lost in inner turmoil and now puzzled by new happenings way above their heads. Question is, how long will they continue to embarrass themselves? It has become obvious that only prescribed disaster will ensue, their choice. Ironically, over the years there were many instances of pointing them in the direction to save lives, but all redflags were dismissed. While the pathological lies of politicians took precedence, centre stage and admired. Although there was, and is, no sense derived from the deficit in commonsense they still spew. What kind of minds would believe the muddled ignorance dripping out of parliament and claim it as coherent, while their futures and that of their families hang precariously in the balance, and complain bitterly they "still hew wood and draw water" without seeking a remedy.

However, the six-year whirlwind worldstage bajan bravado and big talk came to a screeching halt by March 28, 2025 when the politician was reduced to a mere weakling's pleadings, whimperings, and having to walk back their uneducated misdirections as it relates to the people farming their own food which was discouraged for decades out of alleged bribe-taking greed. We shall witness how it all plays out in the doomed island state, geared only toward destroying as opposed to preserving and enriching Black Afrikan lives, unless selfishly, it is the political overseers' and their hangers-on moochers.

Sitting in the African Union

Some of the misleading players from the region, despite a 20-year layover in the AU, currently have no two-year student exchange programs in place between Afrikan and Caribbean universities; then or now, like they have with western and Asian countries for decades, or once had with US high schools in the 1970s-1980s, through the Embassy. As the UWI recently conceded. They, including the colonial titled university types, demented reparations seekers, who completely overlooked a structured student exchange, thinking no one noticed, and only now scrambling to hastily put one together, since smashing into an invisible brick wall. Exactly how this will work, since island management sat on ITV UK several years ago, and gloatingly broadcast to the world that the people in Barbados are "slave minded," definitely not a good swap.

Based on that, indigenous Afrikan education is needed for the one way, only, transfer to the islands. Now unmasked for educational deterioration, and were allegedly in the process of constructing an entirely different anti-black bridge to Afrika. One exclusive of Black Caribbean descendants and their children, now upended. Yet still, somehow brazenly convince themselves they will get trillions of dollars off our, and our ancestor's oppressed existence in their hands, with the bajan flag girl misdirecting everyone. The little political islanders can rest assured this will never happen the way they envision, as there will be absolutely nothing forthcoming for "exploiters" and "black slavers," on either continent, outside of what they already allegedly managed to extract for themselves. Amen Ra

The Inferior, Substandard Miseducation System

Our ultra-ancient Black Afrikan systems of educational mastery extends back hundreds of thousands of years, and still available in certain spaces to those deserving and directly intune. The most recent of revered establishments are Kushite, Kemetyu, Timbuktu (Mali) Universities of Black Excellence that spread and shared sacred knowledge across Afrika and globally. Including the original Arabic Black Afrikan scholars of Arabia, also enlightened newer groups recently arrived on the earth who then adopted the muslim faith. These are the closest Black creations in the last twenty thousand years (20,000), still within our reach. But because most Afrikan descendants are yet to find out who they are or where they originated, and erroneously still rely heavily on those who have yet to reach the higher vibrations of our melanated ancestral spheres. Meaning, our European ancestors and all others, learned everything they know from our classical Afrikan themes, the inaugural Black Afrikans. Therefore there is still mass confusion, due to not knowing anything about that part of our history.

The Inferior, Substandard Miseducation System

The self-recognized "prophet(s)" will have to find the information, because regurgitating rubbish that is all modeled on the same religious/political doctrines and principles in the physical world does not count, and still unaware they are going around in a 2,000-year-old circle devised specifically for that purpose, without having access to our real history, is shameful. The only authentic, non-religious creation manifested by our true and living Black Afrikan Gods and Goddesses, can never be emulated, cannot be directly found in a book, and will forever hold dominion over earthly and universal spaces. Ra

Unfortunately, the bewildered who stubbornly believe, just like the delusional politicians, the 11-plus test abandoned by its British creators in 1969, fifty-six years ago, because of severe inefficiencies, is still the best system of transitional placement they ever had in the school system, post emancipation. However, realistically speaking, it is the only process they have had, know nothing else, but somehow certain, once a tiny group excels at this menace test of classism, nothing else is better. To hear them tell it, the reason why this test was abolished in the UK, according to the misled, is simply because they supposedly "got a much better education than their masters from the exam, who then had to change to something else because they could not compete," fifty-six (56) years ago, a decade after its introduction in the UK, a mere three years after the island's "independence," that's how long the abhorrent testing experiment was intelligently removed from the British system, but no one did the research, and the wicked island politicians said nothing..

Never mind the disoriented still remain at the very bottom of the socio-economic ladder in "Brassbados," cannot move up not one level above that, unable to reclaim anything allegedly stolen from them within the last century, because they do not have the mental acuity and even less courage. Even worse, can control nothing on the islet, including businesses sized for purpose, land, or anything else. Since they have no role in the island's resources, that largely belongs to them, outside of being exploited employees, laborers, servers, gardeners and denied any voice in their future, as taxpayers. Given who have been in charge for longer than is tolerable, moral or decent, haunting the island, always placing criminal minorities at the front of and above the Black population, weaknesses guarantee that is where they will all remain. The majority is not allowed to voice their displeasure and expected to accept all inequities; but amazingly believe they are "educationally superior" to those who created the test, because of said exam, none of which is sound, rational judgement as opined, and borders on the mentally deranged, to the layperson.

The Inferior, Substandard Miseducation System

Even though they are wilfully banned from creating anything since they have no clue about their true potential under oppressive black colonial regimes. While residing in an alternate world of "superiority," toward each other, depending on the high school attended, as the downtrodden. Nevertheless, happily remain in a fixed, supine position, hesitant to lose their place in the pecking order as third class citizens, and have no inspiration to demand better like the peoples of Dominica and St. Vincent are currently. While comfortably unqualified and incapable of applying ancestral know-how to make the requisite changes. Since our real Afrikan history remains expertly hidden by said island mis-management. It is no longer worth our precious Divine realms and energy to dwell any further on this well constructed road to nowhere, unless and until the Black Afrikan population is willing to save/help/protect themselves.

All it will take is resoluteness, love of self and families, instead of obsession with polluted politicians who ignore and see them merely as numbers worth using for profit, What is needed is decisive action in the best interests of the people. However, I will not hold my breath, since self-doubt does not extend to survival, but stranger things have happened. Thankfully, more knowledgeable educators than can be found on the island saved the day by publicly alerting everyone to the cognitive mediocrity, and its negative byproducts incorporated into clinging to an abolished, defective exam nearly 60 years later. Below are some relevant excerpts from the Barbados Nationnews article:

What is needed for real education transformation

This article was written and submitted by Dr Garry Hornby, an emeritus professor of education, and Dr Marcia Pilgrim, a retired teacher. Following the recent damning World Bank report on the performance of education systems across the English-speaking Caribbean, there have been reports in the Barbados media and comments on call-in radio programmes suggesting that this is exaggerating the problem.

As is well known, the UK abandoned the 11-Plus exam for organising transfer to secondary schools in 1969, resulting in the vast proportion of secondary schools becoming comprehensive schools. These take in pupils from the area in which they live, so attendance is based on place of residence not entrance examinations.. The 11-Plus system for secondary transfer continues to be the main cause of the large-scale underachievement . . . The second disputed fact to be addressed is the oft repeated claim that there is a 99.6 percent literacy rate in Barbados. This reportedlySo, the 99.6 percent literacy rate is clearly false, since a large proportion of pupils obtain less than 30 per cent in the Common Entrance Exam and around 70 per cent of pupils leave secondary school with no qualifications. These results are widely considered to be due to the large numbers of pupils who complete primary school without developing adequate literacy and numeracy skills to be successful at secondary school. These findings are clearly not consistent with having a 99.6 percent literacy rate.

What is needed for real education transformation

Whereas, UNESCO in 2016 reported that the global average adult literacy rate was 86 per cent, which is likely a better estimate of literacy in Barbados and indicates that there remains room for improvement. is based on a national census conducted several years ago from which the percentage of people who ticked the box stating that they had completed the form themselves was taken to mean that they were literate.

Major problem

So, it is clear that there is a major problem with the outcomes of the education system in Barbados that requires a major reform, or transformation, of the schooling system. This is widely accepted by those involved in education and by many members of the public.
