LO the Ancestor Eve Bloodline, this genetic distinction is shared in our current earthly dimension between the Khoisan and the Twa. The most ancient of bloodlines to date that survived genocidal extinction. I have taken my rightful place without apology, and in so doing, publicly lay claim to the top tier lineage within my ancestral realm. We sat and witnessed the destruction of our earth both culturally, socially and now by active wars, for over six decades and in this final dispensation led by colonial created politicians, most of whom are disconnected from the most important realities.

This cannot continue, supportive adjustments and anchorage are required as none in this region has the requisite vitalities to put forth anything other than impostor mutterings. While doing everything with wretched manipulations and dominance to ensure we never rise beyond demarcations, as sent to accomplish. We were prevented from recognizing the leading roles that only certain ones are equipped to take. The political overseer class worked overtime to make sure this never happened, but failed after decades of directed mental torment.

Their last gasp and grasp was using suspect individuals to mimic queen mothers, chiefs and presenting them to Afrika as genuine, complete with nonsensical visual effects. A member of one of the royal houses on the continent brought it to my attention. It is just like them to stage a pantomime, not knowing what they are doing or what synergies this entails. They cannot hold or see our ancestor's old world manuscripts, and are completely shut out from eras past, as impersonators, so the next best thing for the colonial undereducated was winging it with acting sessions. Ancestral guidelines can never be replaced with political corruption.

The entourage of actors and actresses were determined to bamboozle everyone they thought lacked knowledge about such things, but still rely on Santeria practices from Latin America for success, another miserable miscalculation. No one who actually carries the rhythms of our old worlds would launch such a collapsible, half-baked veneer of riskiness and expect it to go unnoticed. There was discussion in Afrika that the bajan group was not legitimate, but nothing was done to shut the act down in its early stages, giving them the confidence to further escalate the comical charade, maybe for amusement purposes as a burlesque parody.

The Heads of the Human Family Tree

What the PM of Barbados did not know, an already well established, uncorrupted, ancestrally guided and piloted, energetically powered up queendom or kingdom in existence and presented to the public, before designating unnecessary titles haphazardly, through political misinterpretation. that does not count, was needed. Or in most cases, as found on the continent from around the 1600s, identifiable socially and culturally structured Afrikan centred communities led by a foundational royal house are more in line with requirements. Nothing else, including mirages in a toy house of vipers will ever work. We are confident the House of Actors with its cut and paste work around, does not possess the needed combination. They have once again checkmated themselves due to lack of ancestor wisdom.

It is well known the same atrocities exist in Afrika where those who are thus blessed are pushed aside so masqueraders can continue to sell our ancestral holdings for pittance and keep enslavement of Afrikans a rotating staple for additional thousands of years, as an ongoing destiny; in that way, gifters near and far can achieve temporary, selfish fulfillment using get rich quick serpentine methods, brute force, and care nothing about the negative consequences to and predicament of Afrikans transcontinentally, because of insatiable appetites and poisonous deceit.

Our current adverse experiences revolve around politicians with the tiniest digit of intelligence quotient, loads of diabolical vibrational energy outreach, the lowest frequency devoid of ancestral guidance, but know everything about our personal history, while we previously remained oblivious, as designed. That was their only strength until outed, and convinced our rightful placement was forever lost to us in their grand scheme of things, but now pondering where they went wrong.

Overseers saw nothing wrong with charging ahead to the front to take our place, under colonial cover and connections, instant access to media, a celebrity cloak to hide behind, raw opportunity, but know nothing of what ancient endeavors demand. The folly of paying massive amounts of money to find what remains hidden to corrupters, and still cannot penetrate despite the best efforts, although having an easy gateway to unlimited taxpayer's funds to advertise a false portrayal, should have given them the first clue. Hence it was easy to unveil the treachery and gruesome resolve to resell us to bloodline slavers, our millennia old enemies still wreaking havoc on our continent. This well planned setup was to seize widespread rulership and distribute resources and people to whoever pays them the most. A coup d'etat in continuation of reprobate millionaire, billionaire wannabe lifestyles, and self-hate: making absolutely sure we never recover from this blatant re-enslavement plot and the next three or four generations, our future who manage to survive, but even more confused about their origins, with minds damaged beyond repair, had they prevailed. The collusion and handiwork of the sinister political overseer.

The island management have thrown everything at us within their calamitous cache in a bid to change antediluvian outcomes infused with powerful ancestral energies they know nothing about, this stubborn refusal to back off earned them gargantuan failure instead. What they could never modify is our direct line to what they cannot see, feel, or hear, completely outside their restricted zones of vision and estimation. The reason it became imperative to wage a battle to disrupt the small island criminal evil that sought to take control of the UN Secretary General's chair, and Washington as planned.

We recently found out Barbados also set its eyes on a UN Security Council seat, but just like the other colossal masterminding is now an April Fool's flop, since Trinidad, a late comer, got the UNSC position instead, the big secret kept under wraps went to another island. The most vile attempt of a coup d'etat resulted in the biggest takedown of the decade by their Caricom Indian cohorts. Thankfully we have been spared at least another 10 years of incoherent, insipid, self-serving, go nowhere babble. With its accompanying horrific constructed tribulations attached to a conspiring tongue, with the capabilities to administer bloodcurdling murder on a tiny island, and only geared toward wasting numerous amounts of melanated lives as possible. We could not sit around and allow that added pollution to become set loose on our earth, ensuring deeper dormancy, increasing stagnation and no escape. Amun Ra

This iniquity did everything to commandeer and soak itself into the AU to destroy any successful Sixth Region goals of advancement, as the lead in our violent obliteration, and spread a cancerous bajan tyranny across the Caribbean region to perform same, but can no longer proceed as their indian minority partners see their own supremacy as much more important, and put an instant end to Barbados' aggressiveness within Caricom. The "project" for new masters to reign supreme had already started, when Dominica and Trinidad felt those demoralizing, violent episodes and repercussions from the cold-hearted. The most grotesque of ambitions. Koffi Anan saw them coming decades ago, knew what they were and warned us, certain we would see what he was showing, and how to communicate it to the world.

Hail to you, O living Aten!

Dawning in heaven he floods the hearts

Every land is in feast at his rising; Their hearts rejoice in acclamations,

When their Neb, their maker, shines upon them

To this end, what transpired determined any triumph was removed from their reach, the well deserved results of using silly shortcuts as a mockery to our ancestors, although warned consistently. The Caribbean is struggling to come to terms with those outcomes since the recent public fallout from villainous actions and every danger revealed. Afrika cannot now say they do not know, and must accept they will now come under intense scrutiny from us, given the difficulties they are having to stay focused; the insensitivity shown in handling how we navigate what was malevolently withheld from us by parliaments like Barbados for centuries. The apparent weakness to untangle from a cluttered pathway heading in the wrong direction. The blunder attached to bad handling of the reparations situation. While emerging as not fully aware or understanding what took place in a new alignment and Divine Natural Order now re-enforced on our earth.

Obstructing and Silencing Ancient Afrikan/Caribbean Voices in this Region

Everything has crystalized that from 2018-2026 Barbados launched a mission to weaponize and utilize western celebrity to lure the AU, Afrikans and island populations into a false reality complete with masks of fantasies, fractious hallucinations, and conjured deceptions. All the potent practices expertly crafted over decades and tested on island people ensuring compliance, and the hopelessness to advance beyond a mold of helplessness; or no strength and desire to care that there was no way out of a now detached timewarp of self decimation, and resigned to total submission.

Desperate parliament management saw themselves with everything to lose once criminal syndicates were stripped and disbanded. Including the regional stranglehold they have on the gullible public along with "the 13 impostor masonic, mostly minority families littered across the island chain with their rigid impositions." The regional partners/masters of politicians saw their investment, bread and butter, in the 44 million people disappearing. Haiti is a prime example of the destructive forces in play when combined with other foreign interests. The way populations are abused to enrich the few.

Of course parliaments who sit alongside the Club of Rome, would know the Afrikan bloodlines who pose the biggest threats and can incur them sleepless nights. We did not know, and remained uninformed until a few years ago when everything unraveled and the truth spilled out. Most are still unaware who they are or the input they can unleash. Since becoming a public voice over a decade ago on the island due to the injustices of inexplicable, never ending repression, persecution and subjugation, that should have reduced significantly as colonial countries seemed to relax post 1970s strangleholds. We did not realize it was simply a transfer to political minions/puppets, because that level of ancestor education was still unavailable, we were effectively blinded. False speeches of freedom and independence remained a constant, incessantly pounded into the people's heads since 1966, by supervising overseers. The incorrect information was regurgitated with expertise by mind washed believers and supporters, but none of it actually happened, and raised further suspicions. None of it added up, there was much more unfolding than we knew or could see.

The most recent vomit inducing "punching above its weight," bajan lie and the repetitiveness made some of us see red and cringe to the point of murderous, another last straw. Then it became noticeable the impact certain writings had on the overseer's nerves. The fright to do something before we found out what they knew and hid, but had no intention to share anything with the people. I started to sense the magnitude associated with who we are, or how our contributions would matter, and rewrite decades of fabrications, reverse the hoax played on four generations.

Then we noted the new rising enlightenment terrified them to such heightened degrees, they had to act. But exterminating a powerful social media resistance built up over a 15 year period, akin to the 1937 riot and could ultimately spread across the Caribbean, was something unexpected, too many people were watching and not afraid to call names, and no matter which bogus law they brought to instill intimidation, nothing worked. Then it happened, the political overseer's biggest nightmares and greatest fears had come to pass.

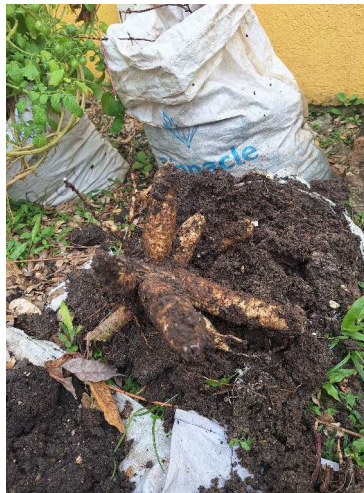

Recently, the Afrikan bank now in the Caribbean, where reports state the same minority moochers demanded via Caricom, the bank's policies must include "the swindler families receive first preference over any loans before Afrikan descended populations." A common practice for decades in other foreign owned banks, depriving people of financial mobility and stability.

Obviously, they also believe they are entitled, led by Barbados, to have priority over our Afrikan birthright and opportunities on the continent as well. Hence a tour of Ghana, as reported by a UK journalist, that syndicate thugs were looking for large business opportunities, led by parliamentary tour guides. While we are noticeably cut out of such rights. We do not need dangerous Caribbean gangs with ulterior motives, escorted by the PM, whom they too own, misrepresenting us in our ancestor's space.

Punching Above The Cocaine Weight Until Caught

The one bright spark in all of this, is the appearance of angering masters from the west to such an extent, reports state, "that many identifiable cartel drug boats were bombed out of Caribbean waters." Unfortunately, innocent fishermen and others transported from the Venezuela mainland on a daily basis, got caught up in this turn of events and lost their lives.

Here is where AU members can put an end to the criminal travesty, with Barbados as the leader and agitating to preserve a perilous crime scene, but now significantly weakened and defeated by a consuming shipwreck. It is abundantly clear why we cannot have these personas, or any other colonial politician/parliament in our Caribbean/Afrikan reparations narrative. A continent that is yet to protect us as Afrikan ascendants from the continuous degeneracy affiliated with human bondage, to augment the wealth status of others generationally.

Our ancient cousins who refuse to globally acknowledge our rights to our Afrikan birthright, and are currently seen as doing nothing but waiting to be paid for our ancestor's and our misery. There is no evidence of advancements in security protections for Afrikans and our continent after over six decades of colonial educated and trained politicians at the helm. Same in the Caribbean. An articulate explanation is needed without blaming the west for everything. Since we know what they do, capable of, and what to expect from them, we do not need Afrika to tell us certain things.

Punching Above The Cocaine Weight Until Caught

Afrikan countries are repeatedly exposed for collaborating against Afrikans. Kenya is a shameful example, accepting money to put on a show in Haiti, in one of many cases. Afrikans brutally enslaved on their ancestral lands and die in generational poverty to provide tea for the west, and cannot pass on generational wealth, but can pass on more slavery to ascendants, is another.

Other countries like the newly named Sudan, awashed in rampaging massacres, wholesale slaughter reported as instigated by slaver countries, the human disaster that is still the Congo Delta, display the same patterns of demeaning Afrikan lives in return for small amounts of aid. Although those and most other countries on the continent are resource wealthy, and do not need any of the culprit countries for anything. How are we expected to accept that disgusting disregard for human life and disrespect for what rightfully belongs to us/our cousins, and withheld so criminals can preen, claim ownership, and satisfy their bloodlust for Afrikan lives. We do not see the AU and individual parliaments treating us any differently.

The Youtube video: The Rape of the Samburu Women | Short Documentary- along with other monstrosities, showcases where populations are kept backward, in the dark ages through social stigmas used to exile the targeted from their families and communities, victim blame and ostracize women and their children who experience this state sanctioned torture. While political overseers justify their repulsiveness and lack of integrity by receiving blood money from the west, and allowing rapist savages unto the continent, after lootings, in the rancid style of pimps. Then have no problem or conscience whatsoever in pulling out "we are victims of the west cards," when caught. We know the drill.

We saw where plane loads of babies were stopped from being flown out from Afrika some years ago, bound to who knows where, and are left to wonder how many decades has this been rubber-stamped as acceptable by Afrikan governments? There was no way the two plane loads caught and offloaded could be the first time this occurred. So how many trips were organized in this series of kidnappings? If memory serves me right, there were French and Spanish pilots on board those flights. Where did the babies from previous flights end up? What happened to them? Given the Epstein ongoing exposure, it is not difficult to imagine what they endured, or what else happened during his non-human dynasty. So the question remains, why are political plantation overseers inhabiting parliaments and the AU in Afrika seeking reparations when they never stopped their willing cooperation and heavy immersion in crimes against Black humanity? Afrika has many questions to answer.

Where Will the West Get Reparations Money to Pay Afrika and the Caribbean?

This question was asked for the last decade while everyone makes elaborate plans and no one sees things as they are, but as hoped. We therefore expected no answer to our queries. There is currently a very long line of European countries waiting to resume what was done for hundreds of years, extract resources from the continent, our birthright, to enrich themselves and fund individual countries but as a group, most without paying for anything as the reparations seekers in Afrika have complained for a protracted period. They said, and which we know is correct, the continent is left in socio-economic shambles after each inference.

With not much left to salvage for its way over a billion Afrikan inhabitants. This agreement has gone on for centuries. Therefore, whose head developed the harebrained notion that the west will look elsewhere but Afrika on their new quest to secure vast riches at Black Afrikan people's expense, to keep the western engine running smoothly, while paying Afrika reparations? This is not a mystery since we have had the names of the Afrikan engineers to the reparations extravaganza for quite a few years. So where will the west get 14 trillion dollars to pay Afrika, and 4.9 trillion dollars to pay Barbados (the Brattle Report), if not from Afrika. The irony is not rocket science or brain surgery.

This 30-year wish by the AU and lately a disoriented, disjointed obsession among the like minded in the Caribbean, has apparently become a reparations game of the blind leading the blind. Where no one takes into consideration any of the crucial complications that have already arisen, which none can see. Among those are the recent occurrences in Latin America and elsewhere. With missiles and bombs liberally tossed around, the answers are therefore a no-brainer.

For this reason Afrika and colonial politicians in Caricom should not remain involved in the reparations chronicles concerning payments to Afrikan ascendants in this region, and had they any decency, would bow out, definitely because of the complexity of the situation, but most importantly, none can be trusted. So for that purpose, and because we do not have the entire history, outside of the basics. So far, we only have enough to fully comprehend who was who, in the roles played between the kidnappers, chiefs, kings and what have you from the continent, including middlemen from West Asia, and western buyers from the 13th to 18th centuries.

I prefer not to become too involved in the reparations matter between Afrika and the west, it in no way involves our claim, primarily because slavery dressed up in newer packages across timelines, and selling out Black Afrikans domiciled on the continent to the highest bidder is ongoing, meaning there are still contractual arrangements in place among the descendants of our ancestor's kidnappers on all sides.

Where Will the West Get Reparations Money to Pay Afrika and the Caribbean?

Our focus is strictly limited to what occurred between Afrika, the Caribbean, those who were already here, the newly arrived, and slave trading colonizers. The current existing Afrikan descendants of village chiefs and kingdoms/queendoms, including those ensconced in the AU. The same bloodlines also sold their people through middlemen to numerous other western countries, but it is a completely separate issue and should be treated as such. Our priority is to our ancestors who landed barely alive on the slave clearinghouse that is Barbados, and who endured unlimited distribution throughout the Caribbean Americas, and what followed up until today.

We are the ascendants, this is our only concern, so in that way everything is clearcut, and therefore nothing becomes jumbled. Where ancestor instruction is paramount and strictly followed. Interestingly, Afrikan Americans do not want their claim incorporated into Afrika's either and they are right, it is too tangled. The best minds are needed to disentangle what paid political overseers do not have the know-how, linkage, or lineage to pull it off, they do not nor will they ever qualify.

I implore the UK to also leash its black political town crier from expressing views in our affairs, those who have no direct connection to this area, and no right to an opinion or suggestion as a leading opposition. They do not want to identify as Afrikan, showed unmistakable animosity toward their heritage land Nigeria and now dare to mention the Caribbean in a hateful anti-reparations rant aimed at Ghana. Those grudgeful mouthings in the last couple years show this young lady Kemi Badenoch as not soundly grounded. While in a frenzy to wiggle into the British parliament to set worldwide policies that can negatively influence and endanger our rights and lives, as commonwealth citizens. That is the reason the reparations scenario must be handled separately, and not by these trainwreck types.

The years-long debut as The Global Mouth from the South ended for Barbados where nothing was achieved. Especially since becoming untethered, with everything burning down around them, a range of self-inflicted losses, the rug of schemes unceremoniously pulled out from under and off balanced future grandiose cunning. They will not connect the list of copious self-defeat to their drive to undermine our journey out of their bondage, because the clown show must be in charge of everything, everywhere, including what they do not know: so are drifting out to sea while engulfed in flames and now thankfully silenced, hopefully permanently, and everyone is already waving "adios."

Where Will the West Get Reparations Money to Pay Afrika and the Caribbean?

The desire for the west to hand over trillions of dollars to the politicians whom they own, we must ask, and why should they?? Where have they gotten the human bodies by the millions, materials to power industries, minerals to clothe themselves in immense wealth etc for the last 530 years to fund everything in this region, did they pay sufficiently for it, did they take full responsibility for our ancestor's kidnapping, enslavement and resultant terror unleashed on us, by their black, indian and other overseers?? We can therefore ask, why has Afrika not addressed our ancestral birthright and entitlements first, as a priority, without colonial processes and the falsity of western celebrity, before embarking on this steeplechase.

To believe the west can find such long lasting resources anywhere else outside of Afrika, and then pay reparations, is juvenile and strange. That line of thinking belongs in a period before ancient ancestral education and knowledge became available. It is frightful that no one connected the dots and realized they will never steal your resources, sell it and hand over the money to you either, it is exhausting just watching this mess manifest, and the moving pieces taking an unseen passage. They will continue to do what they have done for thousands and now hundreds of years, after all, very few on the continent have the will or courage to resist or stop them, outside of the reparations grumble.

I can assure you the paid mouthpieces in West Indies parliaments have absolutely none either. No ethics, integrity, morals, dignity or scruples, and on their owner's/master's say so, accompanied by a big enough payment with perks, more titles, world stage attention and awards, freedom to break every law, will not hesitate to turncoat. They certainly will not publicly appear as having withdrawn the reparatory request, while using academy award winning acting skills, as a coverup. Then change their tune at warp speed, once bank accounts are well padded, defend those unseen actions, and pivot positions using more convoluted slick talk. We have observed them and their abilities for decades and know exactly what to anticipate. Amen Ra
