What is the Function of Caricom? As Governed by the Treaty of Chaguaramas

By Empress Wuarola Oya

From information we are gleaning, while the organization is currently riding a turbulent period of instability, chaos, total disorganization, it is funded by member governments, meaning the taxpaying public of each individual island state contribute, and are therefore answerable to the people as a whole, not to each other and themselves. If a member state is querying multiple serious illegal accusations on behalf of private citizens, why was nothing done? Further, we found out there were three separate correspondences sent, the other two from concerned Caricom citizens in Barbados and Dominica.

So who in Caricom decided the letters were not deserving of an answer and duly ignored them? The communications were related to considerable criminal matters and cannot be overlooked, or brushed aside. All 15 member islands, (with five observer states) across the archipelago, consist of an approximate 20 million population who are entitled to know what happened, and who did what. Somehow it seems the goals to protect the islands and its people were forgotten, and replaced with each other's ambitions and large-scale operations against the islands and industrialized countries. No one voted in the likes of Barbados or any other island that may be involved, to engineer takeovers. No one requested that any one island forcefully assert complete supremacy over us and our Caricom cousins.

Essentially, they are seen as attempting to close ranks then nothing further is done or divulged. A coverup to hide activities unbecoming? The job description of the secretary general can indeed be thoroughly scrutinized for infringements. A comprehensive investigation of Caricom is warranted to uncover what illicit mandates they may have given themselves. Since the scandal is taking on all the appearances of wasted taxpayer's funding, once so easily manipulated and maneuvered into becoming a safety den for the unprincipled, under the color of diplomatic immunity. The most recent videos now confirm the situation as a "crisis." The government of Trinidad, and the people affected by gross indiscipline in Dominica know they have to follow it through to its logical conclusion: in order to save the lives of this and incoming generations from staged disruptions and displacements now being set.

What is the Function of Caricom? As Governed by the Treaty of Chaguaramas

Douglar Politics video on the Caricom disaster:

<https://youtu.be/XdczWjw6ikk>

The Regional Security System (RSS) is backup security, but that too was misinterpreted to mean, according to the dissatisfaction reported, member heads can abuse, redirect the original reason for its existence and stamp out any opposition without explanation, to instill fright in voters from any island, who refuse to adhere to political initiatives that goes against their desire to elect whom they prefer. Island governments, who know who they are, have crossed the lines of legality as usual, and as always have no decency, in a hurry to present themselves as some ironclad president elect dictator of the Caribbean. The RSS should not become a weapon of choice to promote Red Cultism across the West Indies, to solidify political cult leader's positions and visions of domination. .

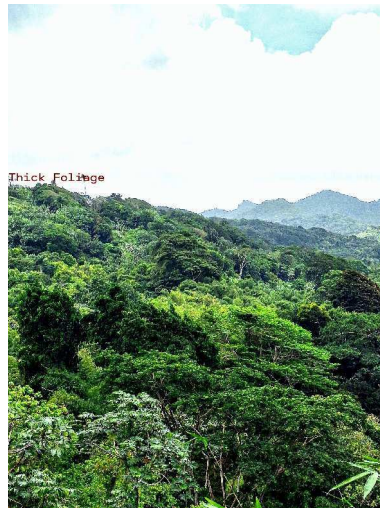

It must be made clear that the wellbeing and security of the people is primary and must never take a backseat to the whims and fancies of politicians/overseers who believe they have become so important in their minds, and to the weakest red T-shirt wearing followers/sheeple who believe the ruptured nonsense leaking from politician's mouths; who have already pushed the limits to how much their employers, the people can bear, and obviously believe their old foreign masters have no more say, have become irrelevant, because of new found associations, and celebrity invincibility, a fallacy.

In essence, the entity is not protecting Caricom/Commonwealth citizens. Somewhere along the line the charter was hijacked, transgressions became the unwritten rule, its members sold an illusionary pig in a bag, and now have to face the fallout and ultimate consequences, from the taint of perversion. If members and its secretary general cannot address alleged crimes against Caricom citizens, reply to a query about irregularities and potential human rights violations within the Treaty of Chaguaramas, (Caricom's backbone), launch an investigation, and if any contraventions are found to have occurred, hold any guilty heads of member states accountable. If there is no answer or action involving any of this, then Caricom is worthless, is not built for purpose, for the benefit of collective taxpayers who fund it, and the taxpaying islands have to ask, for whom do member states really work? Who corrupted the organization?

The Heads of the Human Family Tree

What is the Function of Caricom? As Governed by the Treaty of Chaguaramas

Once gruesome accusations are tolerated, allowed to slide, the Treaty disrespected, then the culprit(s) will once again have gotten away with using diplomatic cover to escape sanctions for their background in law breaking, and will continue to accelerate a well known long history of violent tendencies. Someone has to bell the cat. Peace and safety in the region, while not perfect, is paramount. It is unfortunate some are trapped in a world player haze and continue to impose intensifying, boringly irritating wretchedness on everyone. There is zero tolerance for this revolting behavior, accepted for far too long by the defenseless who believe there is no way out and do not think they have the capacity to beat back bloodthirsty bullies. The fetidness has spread as expected. The intent to move the islands backward, when never given the chance to advance upward, must face the utmost resistance.

No one within the vast majority, with any intelligence, proposed that an island deeply steeped in wrongdoing, or any other neighboring islet, compete with well established international countries for hegemony to reign over the world's people and resources, or the island chain. Since there is no ability to work at the ancestral level, this is the best they can offer. No one needs the caricature. This fantasy was dreamed up by the irrational who succeeded in dog walking the country into further unrecoverable systemic failures. The magnitude of which is only now seen, felt and the horrified public are crying out daily for relief.

The lack of clean water in too many parishes, the plea for better healthcare overall, the need for longer lasting quality roads; the necessity for curricula in schools that actually matches the historical story and ancestry of the majority, and not everyone else's; and a long list of other grievances which they refused to address or provide for the people, when the means were available. Yet strongly believe they can be a world power making decisions for billions of people, when unable to deliver to 280,000 people on an island 14WX21L. Neither can they competently manage anything no matter how small in detail within a sixth of a degree of angular measurement (minute).

What is the Function of Caricom? As Governed by the Treaty of Chaguaramas

I will never pay my helper with perks, to keep my household forever stuck in the throes of decline, while everything degrades to unrecoverable levels, and there is no self determination; this would mean it is no longer my house, but I am still the one paying the bills. This is unacceptable, and it is time you leave my premises, you are trespassing in your feverish condition to assume the function of colonizers across the Caribbean landscape, and by extension the Afrikan continent, but only if allowed. Colonizer mimics have nothing better to give the general public, everything they do comes straight out of Massa's playbook, but what they say and sputter incessantly when interviewed in the west, handed a microphone onstage to drone on for hours, or on video, is the direct opposite, sleight of hand. Barbados has disintegrated in areas that matter the most for people's survival and has become its own daily talk show, due to social collapse.

Transferring Political Reprobate Behaviors to Afrika As An Add-On

This writer has shown concerns in more than one comment and article that those from this region who are determined to project to everyone they are above the law, and therefore no one can stop their rampage to capture authority, leaving nothing for anyone else to achieve or deviate directions away from corrupt politics. The reckless campaign of undermining positive movements to keep a decayed legacy of criminality from the 1920s alive, must be ripped up and dumped in the annals/dustbins of a grotesque history, with warning labels.

The stage where Afrika is at currently, they will never see the approaches used, and that is what was counted on, the blindness and state of remaining where some islands have already moved through, putting them ahead in certain aspects, allowing the upperhand. This represents a disadvantage to the entire continent. Therefore, extremes were used to inveigle into every crevice they saw vulnerability. Especially where people love to listen to and believe well varnished political lies embroidered with empty talk. They depend on the political slave mind as the weakest link to absorb the lowest negative energy and feel enthralled., from that point they can launch - any operation. This is vexatious, infectious and noxious to the soul, particularly in those whose spirit already took a previous beat down. The continent was assailed for eight years and overrun by one hundred years of expert, practiced political guile in its varying roles, where perilousness cannot be overstated.

This overseer grouping has always shown disgusting disregard for Afrikan ascendants and their offspring's lives, whom they view as residing beneath them. While wallowing within an elected glass case of colonist classist, miseducated arrogance, and haughty conceitedness. It is no secret they see Black Afrikan people only as a means to an end, where opportunism overrides competence and efficiency, to enrich them and their co-conspirators who have joined in the disenfranchisement of the people for over half a century, resulting in the same economic disillusionment due to detachment brought on by vicious governments. A topic they now shamelessly expound on to appear innocent.

There is no way they view Afrikans on the continent any better or in a different light. But when caught under the glare of a spotlight, as is happening now, quickly trot out the long winded university component, with the same vampiric inclinations, to pay lip service, and appease those who admire detritus consuming blab masters, and their useless words:

"Our next frontier as a people . . . is economic justice," he declared, arguing that while Barbados had secured social and political freedom over generations, the struggle now was to ensure equitable access to wealth and opportunity."

Any name from UWI can be attached to the above roll of twaddle, the so-called "best educated" only just realized there is "no economic justice" on the island and came up for air long enough to articulate this, a default speech, as an afterthought, after over 60 years, obviously never noticed this before. This is the colonially schooled with their professor this and that, valueless accolades, all of whom are politically owned and bankrupt of commonsense. Though many everyday people with no pompous titles have written, preached, appealed, beseeched and finally exposed the tone deaf deliberate wickedness. We can only name one outlier out of all these paid graduates who actually carries an awareness of realness. The usual gang of tiresome UWI talkers only now acknowledge what everyone has always known.

Transferring Political Reprobate Behaviors to Afrika As An Add-On

After over half-century of threats to the targeted, where they partook in parliamentary crime sprees ensuring pauperization of four generations of people, their offspring and ultimate criminalization, through thefts of estates belonging to the elderly, land and anything else not nailed down properly by documentation, rendering beneficiaries homeless and anchorless. Where they got the grimeiest hands on everything to sell and share amongst themselves. Removing opportunities from school leavers, dumbing down all gifted creativity and selling them to every minority they could find to join a club of discriminating exploitative practices. The island was from 1952, and still misled by the least ancestrally lettered, who are even less intuitively perceptive and devoid of enlightenment. Therefore, we expect nothing in the way of ancestor's eminence, as they can never exhibit any flow of associated linkage, and is unlikely to ever happen in this realm of things.,

Finally, the "colonial learned," popped out to appear bewildered that social and economic justice coupled with opportunities are intertwined, should come first, and implemented from the 1970s, but did not do this, however, conveniently pretending not to see or know this truth. After decades of filling up bank accounts at the people's expense, they now know the population never had "economic freedom," or any "opportunities" to generate wealth to pass on to future offspring, not even the basics, and had the nerve to not mention they regularly legislated deceptive laws to that effect, blocking the means for this to happen, at the behest of minority partners for many decades.

Their supporters, extended mouthpieces resorted to calling people liars when confronted, and complaints were made about the coterie of human rights violations. It might take bloodsucking spongers a little longer than another fifty years to realize there was never any justice for the majority population either, and they are the only reason for all the calculated oversights. Particularly as the justice system, too corrupt to function any longer, and turning on itself, because of the, they, themselves and them self-interests only. Gleefully instituted to proudly wear and model a cloak of other people's stolen generational wealth, encapsulated by the few to whom none of it belongs. The branded schemers are now comfortably positioned financially to believe they are our deplorable masters, can crush any dissent with brutal force if there is non-compliance, and fully expect to succeed.

Rejecting Bad Management, Gangsterism and Barbarism From Taxpayer Paid Public Servants

By the time some of us reached our forty-year mark, it suddenly dawned that the people were deceived to the highest degree, amazing to anyone who knew how it all unfolded. No one believed the brazen vileness rolled out. The most trusting among the population, which was basically everyone, never knew their tax dollars funded the government back then, it literally took decades to convince them of that reality; or about those politicians they were so proud of and admired all the nauseating froth that emanates from the holes in their faces, are their employees. They stood mesmerized because politicians spoke "big word."

People could not reconcile any of it, because of lack of information. Repulsive tactics were used to isolate anyone sharing information to those too brainwashed to see the divisions created, and too fearful to not comply, another version is still playing out today. The innocent believed university exposure made politicians more knowledgeable and expert than anyone else, so they should never be questioned, challenged or observed. They never understood hero worship made them defenseless, and easy victims for colonial trained mindsets to deploy devious methods. Particularly the simple souls who had very little or no educational background, and were not aware of conniving trickery. Understandable, because Afrikan centered literature was heavily censored, banned/criminalized on the island for a very long period, before the entrance of social media, and between that time, no one told these people they could actually educate themselves with their primary ancestry/story as well as with the colonial curriculum.

The government still ensured there was no access. Based on the powerlessness, most did not know the truth, so the unscrupulous within parliament and opposition seats, took full advantage of trusting minds. Until it dawned on the reprobate class, they could rule by false honor, prostration and adoration as well. Which then led to subtle, nearly invisible pressures to accede, evolving over a lengthy time to what we see today. Rule by terror, threats and extortion, where there is no escape. Public servants paid by the population consider themselves "pedigreed," but do not know the first thing about the subject or its function, knowing the red shirts who look up to them, do not know either and will never ask, only regurgitate. They remain hostile enemies of their employers, the voters and taxpayers, but only after weaseling their way into the treasury, close to pension funds and vat, by any means necessary. Including spewing pledges they never keep, but have one for every occasion. While banking heavily on the short memory syndrome they know plague too many people still.

Rejecting Bad Management, Gangsterism and Barbarism From Taxpayer Paid Public Servants

After overplaying that game, clarity set in for the majority, leading to the voter apathy that sees nearly 70% of the population sending a message in the last questionable election, where there is no mandate, that they have had enough of over 60 years of going nowhere. While the overseer class has become an unwanted, unneeded scourge in their lives. It is quite telling when doctors and other employees at the failed medical facility are afraid to speak out about overwhelming sickness and death relating to concerted neglect of the institution. Fear of victimization, and trepidation over losing jobs is a deterrent.

Patients are so terrorized and traumatized, they cannot complain, just in case they are denied surgery and left to die, one report states. The people can give themselves credit for understanding the new trap set, the evil intent encompassing the entire island. This is what visited Afrika and tried to take over by deception, but a total lack of ancestral knowledge upended that parade of fakeness. The battle to unmask a crime site that seemed to have no end, was monumental, especially when it made rigorous attempts to spread itself across such a wide area. Therefore, it came as no surprise what is currently unraveling within Caricom, with a presence covered in a veil of generational blight trying to assume possession and impose its will everywhere. None of it was destined to end well.

Great of magic in the Bark of Millions of years,

Sacred one dawning in the seat of silence...

Strife and peace are in Thy grasp ... Praise to Thee

Who art stronger than the Ntchru; joy to Thee."
