The Dead and Injured Victims of Barbados' Covid Lie
By Empress Wuraola Oya

We witnessed five years of pure horror, outright tyranny unleashed on the population, and by extension the entire region, when the Wicked bajo Mouth took control of the cabinet, we cannot say elected anymore due to certain mounting evidence that suggests otherwise for three elections; then proceeded to show itself as the face of the newly presented Covid-19 vaccine in 2021. Unfortunately, privacy rights were taken away when draconian measures were deployed, after coercion seemed not to work quickly enough, brute force became the norm. Then the political yard-fowls took full flight in defense of the unfolding terror, to uphold medical despotism against the population. Many people decided to take a wait and see approach as sound judgement dictates precaution of the unknown, and because of insufficient time given to the trial period. Since such determinations are protected under medical privacy laws and are individual personal decisions. Where parents also get to decide for their children, all outside the purview of the government who legislated to cancel all rights in that regard.

People were warned it is not their place to demonize anyone to take a vaccine, worst yet, certain blogs rolled out a campaign to curse those who were moving too slowly to put a not properly tested drug in their arms. Some decided to suggest those who refused to comply should be treated as lepers and removed from the society. People were made homeless because families split apart, believing the fiction coming from the medical establishment and the Prime Monster. The ugliness was fully promoted and supported by the parliament who influenced this show of small power to intimidate everyone.

I do not address any groups or organizations above the local political puppet food chain, because people like myself never knew anyone else existed in a structured hierarchy until the Covid episode when everything cascaded a few years ago. Local politicians are the ones we witnessed serving up abuses and other crimes against Black humanity, they were always the only faces seen, but distanced myself from such cliques due to too much pretending, nothing about it, them, the system seemed real or valuable.

The Dead and Injured Victims of Barbados' Covid Lie

My knowledge stopped at what was revealed about Buckingham Palace up to that point from the 1400s, the incomplete history, and went no further for me since I was a child, until that changed: but the parliament marionettes and their inner and outer circles knew their entire lives they had different more powerful masters, and said nothing, kept it quiet, obviously enjoyed their double performances where they received compensation, and weasled themselves into unknown, to me, organizations as employees for decades, all the while paid a handsome salary by taxpayers/voters who elected them, so here we are, having to confront and deal with the fallout.

Some politicians only threatened to expose "white shadows," when they wanted a bigger title and more money, a form of blackmail to keep the 60 plus year old secret intact, and whom I honestly thought were referencing the little minority thieves on the island that we have always known about.

Who have haunted the Afrikan ascended population since their roles as slave catchers ended, then new arrivals from the same and other groups entered the picture to join in and dish out the vile superior, in their minds only, classist, racist slave master wannabe conduct to rob the treasury, vat and pension fund, leaving the majority population pauperized generationally, aided by greedy uncaring, revolving cabinets. That was the extent to what I knew, therefore it is not my place to write about people or organizations I know very little to nothing about, and much prefer not get involved, period, since these groups literally own said politicians.

Politicians Are Our Deadly Enemies

After two years of the Covid crusades, reports started to circulate of "injuries and sudden deaths." One young lady, a local singer and known member of political circles had earlier made a vicious video telling people not to come near her to make her sick, screaming and shouting they will be the death of everyone, with no corroboration of such. Sadly for her, no sooner had she taken the vaccine, became ill, never recovered and passed away. Eventually, reports made the rounds that small state governments were paid handsomely for such outcomes, and were due millions of dollars the more people complied.

Some people reasoned that had any of this exercise been legitimate, no government would need to go to such extremes, in anticipation of further millions in payment, the more people got vaccinated. A few who were the targets of the show of soft power, were imprisoned, got sick and died, some were already ill with life threatening medical issues and did not need the additional stress, but it mattered not to those seeking to assert complete dominance over people simply trying to make a living to feed themselves and families. The government previously hand-picked minority gangs to take charge of sourcing vaccines internationally, officially, who were more than happy to slide into new roles of pretend importance.

Then the Mouth came out with its own video pontificating that 'if the vaccine kills yuh, we can help yuh, but if Covid kills yuh, we do not know who could help yuh.' People were flabbergasted the politician had gotten so outside itself to spew that nonsense which of course only their dumbest slave minds believed, right up until some got incredibly ill and/or dropped suddenly; but for those of us who can actually think independently for ourselves, we saw that as insulting our intelligence, taking it to a whole new area and took great offense to wicked words inviting all out war. Then to compound the series of anti-people events, immense pressure was applied to employers to fire those who had not yet decided if the vaccine was safe enough for them to take or give to their children, so waited for more information, many lost their jobs. Shortly after, St. Lucia came out and publicly complained that Barbados took millions from them to activate an AstraZeneca side hustle, distributing vaccines across the Caribbean, although having no prior experience in such a venture, they are not Big Pharma.

However, St. Lucia griped they did not get any vaccines, or any refund. At that time, Barbados was acquiring AstraZeneca at $3.00 per dose via a sponsored initiative to governments directly from manufacturers and were not supposed to resell, but since it appeared so lucrative for vaccine companies, decided to secretly seek outside sources to go through a pharmaceutical back door, under the guise there was a shortage, and pursued the purchase of one million doses, as the newest vaccine players. Mind you, Barbados barely has 280,000 people on a 21L x 14W rock, and doses expire very quickly within months, so do the math. What were they planning to do with the excess 700,000 plus vials remaining? There was no shortage of vaccines at that time, there was a glut. Of course the ever-lying bajan Mouth came out and lied some more about what really transpired.

Politicians Are Our Deadly Enemies

As the story played out in the press, everything started to unravel, information emerged there was a backroom deal, commissioned by the government, greenlighting a "radical" construction company, a cement man who is involved in everything that soaks up and disappears public funds where "government gives permission, and seen as corrupt," the job given was to access more vaccines.

Soon after that we heard about this court case in Miami against some strange sounding company names, claiming the "radical" cement man was "robbed multi-millions of vaccine money by much better crooks than themselves." No one believed it then, and it is even less believable years later. Although it comes with a fairly recent default judgement and searching everywhere in the US for phantoms to repay "stolen" vaccine millions. All the while, St. Lucia continued keeping noise about their approximately seven million dollars handed over to Barbados' vaccine distributor novices, with nothing to show in return.

Given the profiles of all involved, some people think it was just the US' court system being abused again to cover up another "heist" of taxpayer's money, locally and regionally, nothing new. The US, Canada and the UK already have such cases clogging up their judicial systems. At least one major filing with properties worth billions under dispute within the last 20 years, or more, relating to misappropriation of Estates, money etc from deceased, elderly and their beneficiaries, also with another default judgement in Miami where the family indicated it was the same defendants brought the case against themselves that resulted in the judgement of 239 million dollars.

Effectively tying their hands from filing a case against the accused because they took the place of the plaintiffs, impostors. They had nothing to do with the dishonest players from Barbados filing cases against themselves in the US to destroy evidence, and still alleged as sub judice in other jurisdictions after all this time, this is a modus operandi. Personally, I do not see any country appreciating their judiciary used in layers of deception by politicians/lawyers and their associates from another jurisdiction to dodge racketeering charges, accountability and arrests for the theft of taxpayer's money.

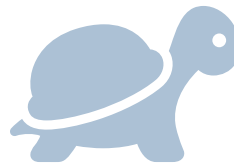

Politicians Are Our Deadly Enemies

However, when questioned about the government's involvement, the then minister of health, now the island's president, claimed he knew nothing about the arrangement to source additional vaccines and was kept completely in the dark by his permanent secretary, so he resigned before more scandal erupted, however, the p.s. is still employed. No one believes him still, everyone knows the two major players who concocted this latest dip into taxpayer's finances for an elaborate swindle, and as a close family member took flight only because they got caught, he was never going to be the fall guy thrown under the bus, but ended up with another title paid for by taxpayers instead.

Then the distractions started in earnest to cloud and short circuit memories on the island and across the Caribbean. The celebrity scheme at taxpayer's expense took shape with PR antics, a veil was thrown over the eyes of the blind, and they were off and running, overflowing with lies and tricks to practice on the gullible wherever they found them, especially in Afrika. The people lost again, this time their lives, health, well being and those of their families took an unrecoverable beat down and traumatizing upheaval. So putting your trust in any of these political gangs is not an option; your life, safety and freedom will be at serious, life altering risk, as people on the island and elsewhere are still paying dearly to learn.

Fast forward to 2026, and someone who has a claim, said they suffered a tort has finally taken legal action and is suing the government under the Consumer Protection Act:

Excerpts:

"In a 2024 claim that appears to be the first of its kind before the Supreme Court, the woman names the Attorney General as the defendant and alleges that the government, in its administration of the national COVID-19 vaccination programme through the Ministry of Health and Wellness, is liable for injuries she says were caused by the vaccine."

Represented by veteran constitutional attorney, King's Counsel Larry Smith, she alleges that the vaccine administered to her was "defective". Her claim is that the government failed to provide a product that was as safe as she was entitled to expect under the Consumer Protection Act, and is therefore liable for personal injury and consequential losses."

Politicians Are Our Deadly Enemies

"The claim states that the Pharmacovigilance Team of the Barbados Drug Service conducted assessments into what was described as "a suspected drug-induced reaction post vaccination of the COVID-19 AstraZeneca vaccine", associated with the batch of the last dose she had received. Blood samples were also collected and tested at the Barbados Reference Laboratory."

"According to the court filing, the results indicated that the symptoms the woman was experiencing were vaccine-induced blood clotting side effects. The final medical assessment described her condition as "a suspected case of vasculitis following the administration of the COVID-19 AstraZeneca vaccine on June 25, 2021."

"The woman alleges that between January 24, 2022 and July 7, 2023, she wrote five letters to the defendant, raising concerns about the government's liability for her condition. However, according to the claim, the government has not submitted a "substantive reply".

"The court documents state that in early February 2022, the woman received an email from the Prime Minister's Office acknowledging receipt of the January 24, 2022 letter she sent, and advising that the correspondence had been forwarded to the Chief Medical Officer for "attention and follow-up action".

"She claimed that despite repeated follow-up letters, she has not received any "further update or attention" from the defendant in response to her request for relief.

A pre-action letter was subsequently sent to the Chief Medical Officer seeking compensation for the vaccine injury.

She is therefore seeking general damages for pain, suffering and loss of amenities, special damages including loss of earnings, legal costs with interest of six per cent per annum, and any other relief the court considers appropriate.

The matter is currently at case management level before the Supreme Court."

Politicians Are Our Deadly Enemies

Now the veneer has finally lifted, the spells cast on many populations, broken, everything scurrying politicians do is public knowledge, no longer hidden. Here is where concerned inhabitants across the entire region must show innate strength and make sure every fake leader who set off these life damaging chain of events pay the ultimate price for what was done to them and families, that warranted throwing large parties in celebration after every degrading crime committed, while people and their children lay critically ill and or dying; then had the nerve to act out making the entire regional population fall in love with Barbados' skillful lying afterward, due to short memory syndrome.

Completely forgetting what was done to them, a few short years ago, and by whom: the deaths and grieving, the injuries, the shattered lives caused by the same Beast in the lead who immediately after, charmed them into forgetting everything, pretending it was now a savior, by putting them to sleep and making it much easier for politicians to finish the job next time, and get final payment; but most are awake again, hopefully they stay that way and remain extra observant.

Political puppets were too unnecessarily savage and hateful, declaring themselves all-powerful, while bathing in blood money and laughing all the way to the bank, after making fools of the people who now saw them as someone else entirely, a chimera. Most politicians, the designers have not yet come down to earth, heads still stuck in the upper atmosphere, after that success: since seeing themselves as masters across continents, self-declared "world bosses."

They are not done yet, and have not shown a fraction of their finely tuned crafted fraud abilities once someone, anyone is paying out millions. Neither have they displayed remorse, apologized or made attempts to compensate their victims. If people do not defend themselves and families, no one else will. The culprits need help to come crashing back down to earth due to the belief they can continue merrily inflicting evil against Afrikan people or anyone getting in the way of their dwindling worthless ambitions.

Lies and Luring Afrikan Women to Obtain Free Births for Barbados

How ironic, after all the media gyrations and role playing performed to paint themselves as something they are not, wearing a completely different mask, where who could not see all the machinations fell for the flim flam hook, line and sinker; but now seek safe haven, a port to shelter and transfer criminality to Afrika in continuation of anti-Afrikan cruelty, if they want to expand without discovery. While dressing it up as something else, another masquerade: but can only happen if allowed, by seeking out the most vulnerable and weakest minds, easily impressed with foolish talk they love to hear, all in a bid to deliver and penetrate deeper.

Therefore, nothing coming out of Afrika where the Barbados government is involved can be trusted, will lead to tragedy, and should be avoided at all costs, like the "baby plot," Air Peace Airlines is now distancing itself from, aka human trafficking of pregnant, mostly Nigerian women, because they only transport passengers, as a carrier, and doubtful they are involved in any government setup with Barbados to threaten the future of the airline:

No involvement in baby 'plot', says Air Peace

Air Peace Management is stating that it has no involvement in any advertisement, social media campaigns, or online promotions encouraging pregnant women to travel to Barbados for the purpose of giving birth or obtaining citizenship.

Lies and Luring Afrikan Women to Obtain Free Births for Barbados

This is well deserved, more direct exposure across continents is needed, and all over Afrika using social media and other means, so hundreds of millions of Afrikans can see how a lie and lure to obtain free births for the island paid for by the victims so their children are born under the island's slave codes still in force, a ruthless slave society, a dangerous parliament of slavers, was formulated and used to scam Afrikan women. When did any of this become acceptable, how did it change from us reconnecting to our ancestral lands where we were cut off for over five centuries, to this; and as some Afrikan leaders had asked six or seven years ago, when was it going to happen? Years later here we are, more wasting of Black lives by unproductive local mis-leadership searching for quick money and with a long term game plan, who had no intention for anything that does not profit and net them millions individually for their personal bank accounts.

The most valid reason why Afrikan centered minds should never go anywhere near the Barbados government when realigning with ancestral spaces, there is a much better and safer way, besides they already started trafficking people from Afrika into Barbados/Caribbean. No need to find oneself trafficked into Afrika from the Caribbean without knowing who you are being sold to this time, or who is waiting on the other side for your arrival, for whatever reason. Stay clear of Barbados.

We have seen first hand where they are not above using babies and children in political nastiness, all for money, ensuring Afrika and Afrikans will never be free. We ask again, where are the real human rights attorneys across the Caribbean to stop Slaverbados in its tracks with its modern day slavery of Afrikan people. Karma is taking the central lead to finally end the sickening bajan political circus, and separate from the Apep of the Duat (evil doer) and its esfet (evil doing). Amun Ra
