The AU and Caricom Will be Given 12 Months To Publicly Provide The Leverage They Have on the UK and Europe

The Conspiracy To Sabotage Reparations So That Black Caribbeans and Black Americans Are Left Out

Ma'at is Love

Love gives nothing but itself

Love takes nothing but itself

The harmony of love does not possess and it will not be possessed

For love is sufficient unto love

Love is Ma'at - truth, justice, righteousness, reciprocity and harmonious balance

When two forces learn to grow together into one harmonious path

You learn that you cannot direct love

Love, if it finds you worthy, will direct your course

The AU and Caricom Will be Given 12 Months To Publicly Provide The Leverage
They Have on the UK and Europe
By Empress Wuraola Oya

Common sense dictates if they had any at all, they would have already used that leverage even if for their own benefit. In other words, put up or shut up, not a day longer will be given, and that is being extremely generous. In the interim, everything known and on record will be revealed for every month they are unable to produce that evidence. It has been years since this contrivance was brewing to have reached this point. Making claims that you can get trillions of dollars from former colonial countries is not something to take lightly and should not be used as camouflage.

All these political mouths made it a very visible global enterprise, so should not be shy in showing us what they have that cannot fail, and not afraid to immediately use it once available. There is no reason to wait any longer by prolonging this unnecessarily and are way past the stage that they are still looking for a way to make them pay or prompt any of it to happen. Therefore, demonstrate the competency deployed to take this to its logical conclusion. This concerns us and we have the right to demand inclusion in the dialogue.

Again, Afrika has tried various schemes for over three decades, nothing works since their intent is less than clean and noble, so too the latest hangerson Caricom in the last decade going on and on about reparations, but have nothing to show outside of the few millions they managed to beg from those willing to part with any. I am sure if Afrika knew how to use what they have available, the outcome would be very different except they are too focused on denying us our rights, to see what is positioned in front of them.

Especially when there is documented proof of interference in the reparations journey for a very long period. Meaning, we have much more leverage on them than the AU knows how to use; or Caricom can show they have or produce to force payments from the UK or Europe. They can prove me wrong by presenting what is procurable. Had they had any winning cards they would not now be trotting out a corrosive, dimming Portuguese descent as ammunition, and are obviously winging things while on their last legs.

The AU and Caricom Will be Given 12 Months To Publicly Provide The Leverage They Have on the UK and Europe

Populations have been very patient with politically polluted mouths that love playing games with other people's lives, even though always heavily impacted by questionable actions that eventually culminates in massive failures, it matters not to them. They then get to move on and everyone else is left to pick up all the shattered pieces however they can when it blows up in overconfident, ridiculously backward faces. Who to date have no evidence they can deliver anything but further disruptions to Afrikan lives.

There is additional information to suggest a concerted effort to hold a negative outlook regarding our story in the west, by disrespecting our ancestors' centuries of suffering, and either take control of associated reparations claims in the US. Which no one was going to allow, or the "sabotage," of any such efforts. Then bypass those affected generationally. While aiming to change the conversation to less meaningful rhetoric, and paint themselves as more deserving, a low crawling move. This is despite the recent show put on about slavery that Ghana hosted. Obviously not knowing there were warnings, written testimony out there about the horrendous plan for quite some time, or that it would eventually be made very public:

Excerpts

"Avoid people from Countries That:

- Practice tribalism against Black Americans

Schools are spreading ahistorical narratives like:

- "Black Americans were "forced immigrants and indentured servants."
- "Africans never sold slaves."
- "The Chinese and Irish were slaves too."

"In politics, rewritten legislation removes specificity. The lack of specificity undermines and excludes Black Americans in favor of immigrants. In every state, immigrants of African ancestry attempt to include themselves in reparations negotiations or sabotage the claim."

Know Your History It Erases The Mystery - Professor James Smalls

The AU and Caricom Will be Given 12 Months To Publicly Provide The Leverage They Have on the UK and Europe

There is already this terrible dread when politicians get involved in anything, problems will not only occur but increase dramatically. Although I already knew all of what is now public, and saw for myself the shifting narrative in the US, I still gave Afrika and the conspiring crabs every opportunity to reverse course, but they are adamant, fine. They will learn we are the absolutely worst generation to outfit and focus corrupt ulterior motives against and expect no push back. This was made more profound at the recent appointment of Ralph Goonsalves to "a reparations committee," whatever that is, we are yet to find out.

Why would anyone appoint a specimen who in general has one of the worst reputations of human rights abuses when it comes to Afrikan descended people, particularly women and children, decades worth. This shows the disdain shown to our plight, and made very clear even if background checks were done, the findings were ignored. Obviously, no one took our welfare or feelings into consideration. So this says to us they needed a resume packed with brutality. Why would Afrika dismiss crimes against Black humanity, and promote a negative presence to a reparations committee? Then the Portuguese ancestry is a major problem as well and the most grievous of contempt. How is anyone supposed to take Afrika seriously?

This action proves Black Americans had every reason to act swiftly, decisively and with precision to defend and protect themselves. There definitely was/is ill will at play. Had I not seen for myself how some Afrikans act out in the US, it would have been harder to accept the information as outlined, but some indeed do project they want to replace Black Americans and Caribbeans, that was what I noticed. This is where everything went downhill, and started to disintegrate. I posted some of this a couple years ago. One would have thought Afrika would take the hint, evidently they did not, but instead aligned themselves with Caribbean political cretins, then received the absolutely worse outcomes because of determination:

Excerpt:

"In a 2016 letter jointly signed by the Secretary-General of the NUD, Dr. SKC Ogbonnia, and Executive Director, Political Affairs, Bayo Oluwasanmi, Nigerians dismissed 500-years of Black American history and culture, acknowledged centuries of achievements, and painted Black Americans as simply inconsequential Africans in America. The letter states, "The Nigerian-Americans trace their history in the United States back centuries ago and have contributed immensely in all spheres of U.S. national development." Wrong. In fact, that statement is a deliberate lie obscured with malicious intent. Black Americans' DNA is an admixture found on three to four continents."

The Conspiracy To Sabotage Reparations So That Black Caribbeans and Black Americans Are Left Out

It has crystallized that those in positions of authority on the continent do not understand the cultural dynamics of the Americas, especially in the US, or none of this could have happened. The local politicians would never help, since they themselves only realized some years ago that we actually live in the Americas, so there goes their limited intellect. They always acted as though the islands were completely separate geographically from the surrounding landmass, therefore the people did not know either.

I have said it before, Afrika has no reason to involve itself in the reparations due to Black Americans or Black Caribbean people for that matter, and doing so in the catastrophic hopes of not paying reparations or recognizing us in any way is at the very bottom of delusional, and akin to an unwarranted display of hatred for our existence. Neither should the two involve themselves in reparations for Afrikans on the continent. Which is an entirely separate matter and should be dealt with autonomously by those lineages who are already in line to do so, and no one else.

Our Story is never going to change to suit other people's mismatched fantasies, disrespectful demeanors, and has always been replete with impostors who still believe they can. There should never have been any competition among cousins, and in the Caribbean's case easily attributed to a worthless colonial 11 plus slave test that leaves minds trapped within themselves, the eternal slave mind.

The Conspiracy To Sabotage Reparations So That Black Caribbeans and Black Americans Are Left Out

In Afrika's situation something is also causing this and the colonial schooling does not seem to help. The time would be better spent fixing the extensive and ever growing problems on the Afrikan continent instead, while pursuing reparations singularly for Afrikans. Why are they involved in ours to complicate everything? Who is paying them? Why would Afrikans believe they can take the place of Black Americans and Caribbeans, without some shackles and chains to start with and everthing else that followed? This is the exact type of muddled mess that should never take place and avoided at all cost.

As manifested, it has the potential to lead nowhere with all this conflict of interest, and resulted in Afrikans being unceremoniously kicked out of the US because their misguided leadership tried their level best to be Massa's favorite pets for pats on the head, recognition, celebrity and the people are unlikely to ever regain access. They can thank the AU and Caricom for that particular catastrophe and everything else that follows. However, with Caribbean politicians involved in the latest doomed escapade, it is obvious where all of this is also leading:

"Avoid People from Countries That Practice Parasitic Pan-Africanism and Make Statements Like:

"Let's Unite!"

There is power in numbers."

"Due to tribalism, tribalnomics, and religiosity, Africans are not unified on the continent or in their countries, and in all likelihood, never will be. So why would Black Americans unite with treasonous people that fled their predominantly Black countries? They have a 1.3 billion population with unlimited resources and have not achieved livable stable nations."

The above passionate statement ignores colonial damage, and the forces who make sure Afrika's stability never happens, but the leadership is also directly responsible for ending the centuries of instability, and if truth be told, the populations are also accountable for demanding presidents do their jobs. No one else has access. There is no excuse since Burkina Faso etc said, enough, and that was the catalyst to start the process.

However, from the time the Mouth raced across Afrika chanting and regurgitating that boilerplate rubbish, it has no real meaning anymore, and even before showed the lack of knowledge linked to repetition, without action. When you do not know unity starts at the Spiritual level and is never found in a physical realm so broken by environmental toxicity, it is unrecoverable. Those words must be taken levels above the norm to cleaner spaces or they can never reverberate into the univerese. Now we can observe that those who carry a closed mindset and are thoroughly disconnected, will never see it happen or achieve anything, as they do not know where to begin.

The Conspiracy To Sabotage Reparations So That Black Caribbeans and Black Americans Are Left Out

"Avoid People from Countries that say:
Black Americans have no culture."

Legendary abolitionists, civil rights activists, war heroes, cowboys, and lawmen inspire authors and filmmakers worldwide. There are 100+ HBCUs (Historically Black Colleges and Universities) and life-changing inventions, innovations, and achievements in mechanics, technology, science, medicine, humanitarianism, agriculture, architecture, physics, astronomy (astronauts), etc. Olympians and sports superstars broke barriers in over forty sports and national competitions. Black Americans have a globally embraced culture of artists, authors, Hollywood entertainers, and the iconic music and dance genres.

Avoid People from Countries That Lack:

- Basic understanding of American history, especially Black American history.

7. Immigrants of African ancestry shall be educated about the globally embraced Black American history and culture.

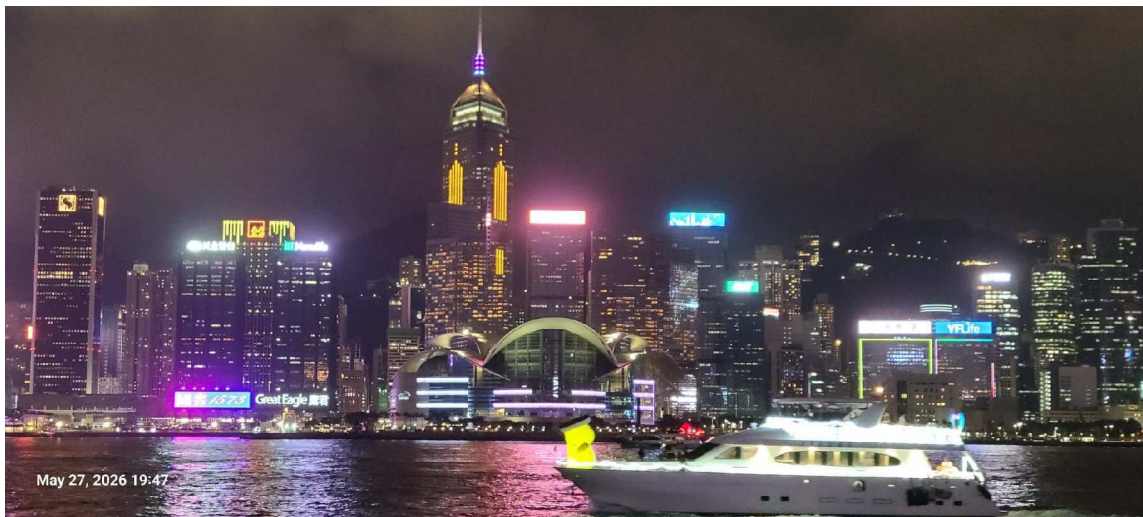

The Conspiracy To Sabotage Reparations So That Black Caribbeans and Black Americans Are Left Out

It's important to note that Africa receives tens of billions in foreign aid and charitable donations. Ignorance of American history can be deadly. Also, be mindful that an immigrant of West African ancestry called the police on George Floyd. "Malik, who agreed to speak if he could use a pseudonym, had arrived from West Africa last year to join relatives living in Minnesota. Malik is a U.S. citizen but has lived abroad since he was a baby. English is his second language; he told me that he wasn't especially aware of the dynamic between Black Americans and the police. So when he dialed 911, he said he had no idea what could happen."

The achievements of Black Americans speaks for itself, so no need to expand on this, they had very little to work with and still made it happen in spite of the centuries of terror. Since then, refined challenges are still in force today, the changes occurred but the vileness still persists: so for anyone to diminish their achievements and contributions that allowed Afrikans and many others from around the globe to migrate and enjoy freedom without the attached horrors that our Black American ancestors experienced is insulting to say the least. As we are well aware, if Afrikans and others do not know the cultural history of the Americas which they are obviously not taught in Afrikan schools. If they cannot respect and appreciate that, it can become fatal.

First and foremost, the same way we find ourselves cousins to hundreds of millions of Afrikans, so too my cousins in the US number many more than we can count, even though a much smaller population compared to the billion mark and growing significantly found in Afrika. There are indeed admixtures across continents that can also be attributed to our adventurous Afrikan ancestors too many millennia ago to accurately track, along with the inputs from the history we know. What Afrika has now embarked on with the Caribbean will be written about for years to come, as a dangerous comedy of errors.

The Conspiracy To Sabotage Reparations So That Black Caribbeans and Black Americans Are Left Out

One ridiculously clueless selfish government, dismissed by the electorate in 2018 and now extinct in terms of difficulty to revive itself, had decided that only approximately 125,000 Afrikan descents, out of a total population of about 265,000 where all are entitled, would get reparations when they too started their program, and that would be only the numbers who voted for them. Another gang of colonial schooled low crawlers.

Obviously, this most evil of crime and potential terror went nowhere and they are still to recuperate from their Karma. The then incoming, even more unrestrained gang, learned nothing and proceeded to add their own brand of stupidity, so we shall see the end result. This is the reason politicians should not be involved in the reparations discourse, period. They all carry way too much of their personal ancestral blight for anything they touch to work within any Spiritual space.
