Raising Intelligence Levels Above And Beyond Enslaving Others
By Empress Wuraola Oya

It is leaning heavily on preposterous individuals high up on the global food chain who claim to have developed, advanced and achieved major prominence over millennia; yet need to still enslave others thousands of years later, in the same barbaric fashion coming out of the darkest periods. Even if appearing a little more polished on the surface, less visible, and would argue it is an improvement, the results are glaringly the same. Although experiencing how previous societies ended in more chaos and degradation than when they started out with each rotation.

There is a definite blindness associated with percentage based benefits flowing only in one direction, lacking deep thought, foresight, and consists mainly of closed sub-systems operating on negative energy with many moving parts eventually sinking into disarray, primarily due to structural managerial decline. However, there are always systemic failures aligned with tying lives to control mechanisms that erode over time, no matter how packed with finesse and heavily dependent on agreeable forces. A direct disconnect between original creations and hurriedly patched together manmade inserts operating outside of natural orders, and methodologies, always meet the same horrid end.

A reboot by controlled demolition becomes necessary, but the flavor remains the same, uncivilized processes masquerading as high intellect. To date, none seem to have found the key that unlocks a pathway to cleaner natural applications. Consequently, minions are the engine that drives protocols covering societies, who then go along to get along due to not knowing anything else. With fallacious misleader's deftness lying singly within the boundaries of necessity: and are eternally stuck between carrying out directives, wanting to please, and self interests as mere restricted puppets. Who go to any lengths to procure for awards and rewards, an opportunity to exclusively exist and publicly shine, the extent of any usefulness to populations. A rationale lacking common decency whose only aim is to deceive.

How does one even begin to defend making a global racket for reparations while simultaneously trafficking Afrikans, be they Nigerians or Ethiopians across the Atlantic. Simply because Caricom copycats, with not an original thought in their heads, outside of wretchedness, saw the same occurring in Morocco and in other Arab states, so the wannabes made sure it happens in Barbados with a view to spreading it across the region for the money and opportunity to escalate more affliction these practices generate. Hoping to proclaim itself as president. Then similarly engaging with white construction firms who wilfully oppressed and exploited workers from the regions of the Americas and South Asia. Undeniably did the same to local workers for protracted generational intervals. In addition, as seen using the latest victim's lack of fluent english or bi-lingual inability for further abuse of them and their families. People are indeed watching intently.

Raising Intelligence Levels Above And Beyond Enslaving Others

These extended events have produced environments so virulent laden they have become unrecoverable, and definitely not conducive to new Afrikan births entering as the historically coded enslaved. Just because minions are well placed to rake in millions from various anti-human side hustles, which people have come to recognize. It has become obvious, none on either side of the continental divide cares about the fallout or optics delivered.

Yet have no qualms or shame whatsoever in publicly claiming worldwide they are victimized by the west, and courageously want reparations too. Instead of letting the real descents, not affiliated to parliaments, politicians, or churches, of the centuries old atrocities take the lead. The minion class did a leapfrog straight into believing they were/are entitled, while still active and willing employees of the masters whom they serve. Here is where appropriateness supersedes ignorance and limelight thirst.

Personally, I know that not only can my European ancestry be traced throughout many centuries to multiple great grandfathers who were highly conspicuous as owners of people. Equally represented is my knowledge of certain things tied to and deeply entrenched in both continents. Therefore, I would know not to attempt hogging a starring role in reparations for any reason. Given the complexity of the situation, and the many layers of connectivity that requires a certain dexterity. Even though not tethered in any way to political affiliations, colonial titles, churches, or as an employee of any corporations etc.

Which would make things that much worse, more complicated, as is happening now where local political interference is a poison well, and will end the same way everything they touch devolves. More importantly, I will never give authorization to low level employees of the Empire to take the lead in any discussion to do with reparations, no one allows employees into ancestral affairs. The problem that now resonates, lack of ethics and conflicts of interest are never seen as a deterrent to pull back, and are the defining motives for the desperate to grab what is not rightfully theirs to mishandle, and doing so for all the wrong inducements.

Know Your History It Erases The Mystery - Professor James Smalls

Raising Intelligence Levels Above And Beyond Enslaving Others

Just this week in August, 2026, it was reported that a whopping 30% of Afrikan descendants in this region carry and share the same bloodlines of various slave master lineages. Afrikan presidents can tell us if the frenzied, hurried bajan bothered to relay any of this to them, and does it make any difference whatsoever, and if not, why not:

If You Have These 12 Barbadian Surnames - The Records Show Where Your Family Actually Started

<https://youtu.be/2yr9F0TrwRs>

The brazenness in reactivating a slave trade and convinced themselves and the slowest of minds, that it is all about "perspectives." Just like they normalized corruption over many lifetimes until legalized and acceptable.

Then in the same breath tried to repackage slavery/human trafficking into a new name, and thought that the fake celebrity is so admired by people who could actually think for themselves, as opposed to their underlings, it would seal the deal. This underscored the psychosis linked to the delusion of self importance. Basically we are looking at a clutching of straws to remain relevant in the eyes of masters, but looked down on in a world now rightfully rejecting these ominous low grade behaviors, that are also tied to crimes against populations. Somehow, the more tumult spread is expected to bring about order, or so they believe.

While too many over acted bit parts have resulted in translucence. Actions at the subordinate level that have become very distasteful. The tricks now used to reduce thinkers to blubbing listeners, mindless mutes will boomerang. Only a few within circles of stagnation will get caught up in the latest trend of generating mental laziness to spread outward into communities. The fact is, that is all they have to offer Afrikans. Although waxing lyingly to the contrary on the continent. This should make people shudder and wonder what next is in store. Then ask, is narcissism contagious, are they infecting each other regarding our reparations, we can even say, no wonder they get along so swimmingly with what we do not need or want in Caricom. Afrikan (AU) In Contrast, Different Disaster - Misunderstanding Our Direct European Lineage

While the west has stayed ahead in terms of control over the world's, including the ancestral holdings of continental and diaspora Afrikans. Too many AU presidents seem steeped and stuck in the back waves of immobility, no matter how many Afrikans they sell, pauperize or join with their various masters to terrorize. Things continue to worsen, and they too are largely responsible as the colonial schooled, but have learned nothing, appear undeterred, and not about to significantly change anything within their comfort zones.

However, they do not hesitate to navigate the continent deeper into the infected scourge, and join with the worst possible contagion from the Caribbean on the road to more misfortune. Why would the traditional trigger for Black Afrikan disaster want to seize command of western reparations when they have yet to prove they can fight off past and present attacks on Afrikan lives or on the continent's resources, our birthright. The US Afrikan population successfully fought them off, now we are left to publicly question the impetus for this stubborn refusal to get out of our reparations business, take their Caricom counterparts with them and whatever other reason they are really using the arrangement.

"None of these petitions include reparations for the descents of the actual victims of slavery."

Afrikan presidents, since they are all up in our concerns, should tell us why this part of the program was left out to begin with, so who is really expecting to benefit from our reparations?

Further, we know simple arithmetic confuses and eludes Barbados' parliament, but Afrika can boast about a population size way over 1.5 billion people, that is a massive project to get reparations from the west.

In case they do not know, we have a population size in the Caribbean region of approximately 25 - 30 million Afrikan descents, a situation that is manageable and easily handled by DESCENTS, not politicians from either continent.

I think Afrika has enough on its plate, you can get those from parliaments in the Caribbean who want to involve themselves to help, that is on them, but you do not have the time to get reparations for such a small amount of people tied to such intricacies. A very small group compared to yours, which is beyond enormous.

Afrikan (AU) In Contrast, Different Disaster - Misunderstanding Our Direct European Lineage

The continent's stand alone, valid claim against the west is sufficient battle, no add-ons needed to buttress justification. As I said more than once, the two declarations are not exactly the same, especially with so many of us sharing DNA with the descents of slave masters which changes the complexion of the entire narrative, an additional challenge. The same way I would not want Caribbean politicians thrusting their dishonesty in my familial connections to Afrika. Similarly, they have no right, and neither does AU in this conversation, as the present employees of the descendants from whom they seek reparations.

How does any of that make sense to them, you will not attempt to hold any reparations paid by people who are literally my cousins hostage and away from me and my family, in your coffers or laundered into personal bank accounts. As there was a recent credible allegation of theft on this end. Are yall crazy, completely out of your colonial minds? When you have absolutely no permission, and precisely one of the main reasons you will get none. I am quite sure you heard about DNA testing, some countries even demanded to see it to access colonial citizenship in Afrika, and got the nerve to think you are entitled to become involved, without our input.

The bajan wickedness is all too well aware of mostly who is related to whom in this region. Particularly those who reside on the island, and that too was weaponized against us for decades, due to no genetic testing available back then, so facts and details were inaccessible to us until the last decade when we were able to test. Since we never knew, and they had no intention of telling us anything, but seeked ways to make it benefit them, to our continuing, unknowing horror. Our parents, grandparents etc went to their graves not knowing the depth of what is now playing out related to genetics.

Many relatives who are still with us, do not understand the ramifications and are totally confused, a lot are in the twilight of their existence, so therefore will leave without that knowledge. While the younger ones lack certain mental strength to handle the whole episode. Afrikan presidents should ask the bajan about that, and find out from them what they did. Do not be surprised when they say their masters made them do these things. They will immediately claim duress, that is always the handy shield used. Rest assured, they will never tell you the truth either way.

Afrikan (AU) In Contrast, Different Disaster - Misunderstanding Our Direct European Lineage

In the meantime, all the hogwash the bajan poured into your heads, needs to be removed. I will not allow Afrikan presidents or the bajan parasite and its entourage of criminals to take charge of or put any strangleholds on anything that rightfully belongs to my future generations without a fight. We watched the mess made of our ancestral lands, saw those who tried to break free from centuries of massacres, thefts, ongoing genocides, the most evil crimes against humanity; therefore rightly trying to assert true independence, sovereignty and threatened with death by Ecowas, and still consistently attacked.

The paid force that is determined to make sure Afrikans are never free has done untold damage to the people and the land. With very little to no fight back by sister countries, and we are supposed to trust you, why? We are yet to see a genuine reason, or any encouragement. Your bajan partner knows its days are numbered, now barely holding on by its fingertips and trying everything to stay in the game, although unwanted by those who still carry sufficient brain function. If you allow it to continue the continent's destruction that has already started, fine; if the people sign off and allow it, but anything concerning my life and that of mine, is completely off limits. No colonial failures needed, when it is increasingly visual where all of this is headed.

I am 100% sure this is the way Black Americans associated with these writings still feel:

"Africans continue to profit from the trans-Atlantic slave trade shamelessly. Revenue is generated from memorials, museums, slave castles, and doors of no return. BlackAmericans are charged to view slavery memorials and overcharged while being called insulting, bigoted names ("obruni," "akata," "jareer," "abeed," and many others.) Jewish victims of the holocaust would never go on a tour with the children of Nazis. Under the cloak of Pan-Africanism, using tourist traps ("Year of Return," etc.), Africans prey onthe sentimentality and misplaced reverence held for the continent. Without guilt or embarrassment, the locals are willing to take advantage of the longing to connect withthe "motherland, "often resulting in Black Americans being scammed, robbed, kidnapped, or killed (e.g., Mame Lena Diop, 75, Nzinga Janna, 69, etc.). African nations should justly pay the revenue they've collected from slave-trade memorials and institutions to the impoverished Black Americans."

This right here is flagrancy squared:

"Many African countries are unrepentant and continue to sell humans. Formal apologies, reparations, or international support have never been offered. Refusal to add Black Americans into international groups (African Union, East African Federation, African Development Bank, etc.) results in people of African descent being incapable of petitioning or lobbying Black Americans and their politicians for international support and cooperation. Miscalculations, missed opportunities, exploitation, and a one-sided dream of Pan-Africanism shape the failed relationship between Black Americans and Africans. It is high time that we part ways."

"3. African countries and territories involved in the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade shall collectively apologize;"

"4. The formal apology shall be fortified by reparations (substantial dividends from mineral-rich lands) to the Black Americans, the descendants of those sold by specific African countries and territories."

"In 1935, 20,000 protestors in New York, Chicago, Detroit, etc., marched to support Ethiopia."

Imagine now to hear Ethiopians are also exchanged for labor in slave port Barbados.

I took note from very early on, there is never a discussion about our birthright with us about our entitlements on the Afrikan continent, as direct bloodline relatives. Where I can have that discussion with a plethora of countries, given the widely spread connections to which I am strongly attached. When carrying some of the most ancient of lineage found in Afrika or in the west. Yet the only laser focus seems to be on our western reparations only. When that attention should be directed strictly to continental Afrikan people's reparations from the west solely. So what is up with that? Where is this scam supposed to lead? Especially with Caribbean criminal syndicates outside and inside of parliaments deeply involved and obviously colluding.

Afrikan (AU) In Contrast, Different Disaster - Misunderstanding Our Direct European Lineage

Regardless how this initiative turns out, this is where reparations should have started in this region, nothing else makes sense. On the lands where our Afrikan ancestors were enslaved, where they were never paid for labor. The land rightfully belongs to Afrikan descendants of the enslaved. That is how we know Barbados is running an elaborate fraud on everyone from coast to coast.

This is where the descents of oppressors still exploit with the help of black faces, their helpers, in parliaments throughout the Caribbean. They continue to shamelessly launder the land to whoever can pay them, every generation and populations get nothing. Politicians and minority groups are the only beneficiaries. They started backwards and that is exactly how it will end. People have said for decades this is how redistribution of wealth should commence, the land reverts to the people. Instead they did it in reverse since the 1970s, wilfully cutting out all Afrikan descents, and stealing what little lands they have left generationally until today. I do not even remember any false promises of this kind ever made in Barbados, since the bayan parliament gangs believe the land personally belongs to them, and have no intentions to share it with the people:

"RISE UP JAMAICA!!!
It's do or die time now!

WE MUST DEMAND LAND REPARATION NOW!

We demand that the lands stolen from our ancestors by the Colonial Master of the PSOJ Oligarchs and their two Colonial Parties be returned free of charge and free of property taxes now!

The NHT TRUST FUND and all amounts stolen from it by the PSOJ Oligarch's and their two Colonial Parties must be returned* to the People now as decent quality affordable homes.

If they don't do it now, UIC will unite the people and do it immediately upon our election!"
