There is no better time to defend Black lives, our very existence is now under unwanted, unwarranted menacing programs and attacks concocted by the brutish. Who should have absolutely no such access, but are in the process of taking illegal liberties with our existence. Very similar to the 1970 Public Order Act, rolled out for maximum Black terror, was never repealed, and meant to stop any interaction with Afrikan ancestry, or personal liberty. Many suffered for decades on end, and still are, due to the long lasting effects of its implementation.

This shows how the politically corrosive would go to any lengths to rein down atrocities in the lives of the majority, once there is a reachable paymaster. The younger generation realize they are at high risk, and given how local misleaders have fouled up everything, and got instant ramifications to contend with, playing out daily in return. Where they can no longer skulk and have now pushed talking union heads to the front to make things much worse, with every lie uttered in public.

This is the opportunity needed to apply, and exert extreme pressure for the long lasting, entirely avoidable forced errors made that has swamped the society. Where they were, and still are, incapable of shaping positive outcomes for Caribbean Afrikans. Unfortunately, they managed to seal themselves well within the confines of a political conundrum. All treachery has a timestamp, and just like some kingdoms and parliaments on the Afrikan continent, the local political group do not know the entire story from 10,000 years ago; and will relive the associated unbroken Karma in store. Since none have ever learned anything more useful, other than betrayal of people. Once the big planners understand they should not cling to the belief we will never legally confront them. No matter what web of lies Barbados weaved around to the contrary.

Defending Our Space & Birthright from Local Usurpers - Self Protection, Lawsuits, International Courts of Justice

As seen in the below video with the Nigerian, frustration has undeniably set in, causing demented outbursts and paranoia in the Afrikan camp. An involuntary unraveling spectacularly deployed, which will result in most packing their bags and running for cover, as Karma rampages through the US. If they do not sit down and catch hold of themselves, calm down, take a deep breath. The methods used were inadequate, riddled with backward inefficiencies, poorly executed, and had no chance of long-term victory whatsoever. Although not wanting to return to Afrika, why would ambushing Black Americans make sense or seem like a brilliant idea. Apparently none can explain the reasons, but still striving to bring down more troubles on themselves than is worth.

You do not pick fights with those who have an extensively long reach, worst yet, threaten them, then have to run for your life, like this parasite. This is the FAFO episode:

It was difficult to miss, the political actions were meant to break down the strongest amongst descents and deliver a much weaker population, easier to intimidate, enslave and destroy: but gravely underestimated Black Americans, who know the faces behind this collaboration. Although a new multi-polar world to prevent this very same political criminal slave master endeavor, and behavior is being brought into existence. Such was the desperation, even that was overlooked in the rush to make it happen before anyone noticed.

To make matters worse, the Nigerian individual in the clip, has also been identified in another video as a politician's son, where he is seen bragging about how much is "stolen," from the public purse. He pointed out the inability of the population to do anything about it, while they use the "loot" to live lavish lifestyles in other countries, leaving Nigeria's economy in tatters. Sounds familiar? It was long established that some parliaments on both continents organized this crime spree against Black Americans because of their fighting spirit.

To destroy the mental state and introduce all the confusion unfolding at a rapid rate, just as expanding on the continent now in utter chaos. While cretins in place work overtime to prompt the police to take them out. The political finger, hand and footprints were seen all over this creepiness, no one else goes any lower. We know how they all love money and would take it from anyone to keep Black Afrikan people worldwide trapped in bondage eternally, and are also not above trading in bloodlines, as imitators.

This time much more was bitten off than they have the capacity to chew and will have to face the massive fallout from vile actions, while choking. The Caribbeans living offshore who joined in the racket formulated in the diaspora, lured and fueled by seasoned small island liars in office; will feel the same backlash, should they openly offend again, on video calling Black Americans "nobodies," using mayhem. Others living on islands accept the soiled twaddle coming from parliaments, unable to separate issues in their heads.

Making it easier to control them by stretching political necks to seize dominance and seek to manipulate everyone. Where they will get massive pushback as people are exhausted from machinations posing as talk-only leaders. However, flooding the area with Afrikans was/is a fool's errand. Barbados is a danger to Black Afrikans globally, and all descents, as I have written incessantly without pause. This time they will not get away from broadbased scrutiny as a shining spotlight pans. They can always start the process of looking for good authors to help them write a book on tectonic regrets.

Kenyan Woman Says Some Africans Don't Like FBAs Because We Fought Back

In a case like that, one would think Afrikan leaders could see the benefits in the people showing strength, since they screech ad nauseum about colonizers, yet do nothing to free the continent from them. Preferring to hold on to their minute colonial status symbols at the expense of the collective. In saying that, Afrikans so inclined are not exactly the example for sturdiness either, when not being able to adopt the positives from the US. Yet copy everything else that holds much less of a moral philosophy, and does nothing to promote mental flexibility.

Similarly, they are showing no courage when refusing to stay in Afrika where they have everything to fight for and with, but use the excuse of colonialism to run away because of weak leadership, whom we acknowledge can be genocidal and violent when protecting the status quo, the very same colonialism, and due to some illness of blindness can never see the contradiction. Where the inability to intuit they cannot have it both ways, escapes them. Hence after observing the inherent debility over decades, will never take most AU members seriously. However, cowardly characteristics from populations, and the refusal to hold misleaders accountable is not admired either. They must sacrifice to win as our Afrikan ancestors did, or why grumble otherwise.

The reparations story is now becoming a very thin veneer of cover for an elaborate dissimulation, the worst of disguises inevitably too transparent to veil anything anymore. It is no longer cloaked, and fallen far behind in terms of expectations for any real success, another exercise in failure, an unwieldy predicament. Since none of them can stop now, and have to see the blunder through to the very end, come what may.

While we witness the challenges and numerous disturbing mistakes accrued, as every strategy put in place falls apart at the seams. A slow, lengthy and excruciating progression but racing at high speed to defeat, caustic, and unstoppable. Due to the cross continent setup being at least a decade old, it is difficult to diffuse the situation or walk back the direction already paved. The infiltration went way too far, deep; and those showcasing political uppityness should have listened when told, none of it will end well.

Colombian Band

Very similar in result and scope to the other bayan Caricom version. A total waste of resources, taxpayer's of course. A decades long misapplication of negative energy, all deserving of severe punishment and international exposure. Since no public servant was ever hired by electorates for that performance, or purpose. In the final analysis, the major league calamity with cataclysmic repercussions, is unreeling with fascinating precision. All initially aimed at destroying Black lives, and cannot confirm any other rationales.

It has backfired scandalously, decidedly messy, and the clean up will take much longer than a decade. Unfortunately, most Caribbean people had no clue they were being unwittingly entangled in all of this, too busy being misdirected. While listening to and admiring slick talking rubbish meant to dupe, but are now referenced as equally culpable in the invasive breaches against Black Americans, right alongside Afrikans, although innocent. The fallout from believing everything political motor mouths say.

All of whom supported and caused the division with their politician handlers in the first place. Now is the time for Caribbeans living in the US to fallback and get themselves away from those who put all of this into motion. Those in the Caribbean who openly idolize political stupidity, need to take charge of their own minds, and rethink their powers of judgement, they are too easy to fool. Now people realize what I meant in my many publications, that Barbados does not represent our best interests in anything ancestral, or concerning whatever else they were planning along with Afrikan presidents without our involvement.

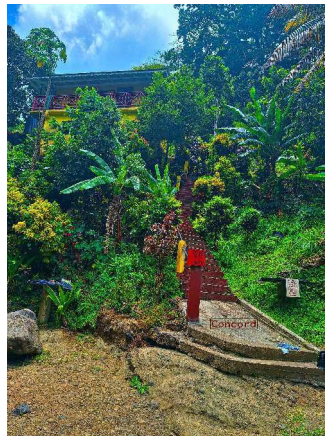

All of which is slowly leaking out. Especially the sixth region scam which was doomed from the very first time it was introduced, by others, over ten years ago, and will never be anything but a capture. This is happening in length and detail because none wants to do right by us, but fixated only on pushing enslavement snares at Black populations. For which everyone still instigating that ambition with such clarity should ultimately face lawsuits and international courts, if they refuse to stop.

Barbados, Caricom & Afrika Were Warned Repeatedly - BACKOFF

This would have saved a lot of grief and blowback, had they focused solely on domestic issues instead, but made an informed decision to wear the delusional false robes of global experts, and world players. I was never captivated. It became apparent no one planned to take an inhalation, step back and evaluate the pending explosive situation for when the prey finally realized what was brewing. Then fully apprised of the proven subversion politicians conceived against them, are now moving in the right direction to defend themselves and their birthright from political scammers with a long con to go after well earned generational funds, and now threatened lives.

Therefore, having no other choice but to close ranks in retaliation. While bracing for the fallout for the perpetrators that is sure to come. All the while, political ne'er do wells forced local university mouthpieces on the public, and mixed up the slavery story so that it no longer resembles the entire truth. Which was sparse and mostly nonexistent to begin with for people in the Caribbean, when trying to hide everything. However, they missed the boat, because of being mentally lethargic. Since those who did their due diligence were at least one hundred years ahead in terms of concealed knowledge.

Unfortunately for them, facts are extremely stubborn, easily dug up and produced, therefore amateur attempts to rewrite and reshape the narrative met a roadblock. Which that particular talker has always lied about, or hidden most of the Afrikan story from descents in Barbados, but now busily trying to out-talk and convince himself: while unwrapping a different soliloquy.

The US has one of the best documented history of events, therefore, any legal eagle could easily debunk mismatched information, and then there is the slavery database available on UK sites. The bottomline is, no descent in the US worth their salt would want Caricom members, their disciples, henchmen no matter how many colonial titles weighing them down, or those in Afrika who present as unswerving crash dummies headed for obliteration: anywhere near their future. No one should have to tell them the masquerade is over. Most everyone knows the horrible intent, and wants nothing to do with the lineup. So let us watch them attempt to break through the resistance, and wish them everything they so richly merit.

Soon it will be total avoidance of pariahs across continents, as they have worked overtime to achieve. Maybe it is time to move on to new sacrifices if anymore can still be found, after the negative publicity all generated single handedly, complete with PR stunts. Which will obviously remain in place for a very long time: and the message is to leave Black Americans alone, as everything escalates and evolves.

As indicated in numerous videos circulating, they have had enough of the diaspora and Afrikans. Caricom members of all people should know the experiences that were beyond the imagination of most of us, until we found out what really happened in the years 1619-present day, and should never have jumped in to conspire against US Blacks, or initiated any of it: no matter how good the awards sounded.

It is unfortunate, many Afrikans do not know their ancestral or recent history, nor what is happening in their own countries, current affairs widely escapes them. Never bother to research any of it before rushing out to make videos: condemning Black people like themselves, then claiming they are not Black. Politicians have the same psychological breakdown believing they are far removed from the population, firmly ensconced in the bubbles in their heads, as tools of anyone who pays:

Black Americans are Not Accepting Any Apologies

<https://youtu.be/PNDLqodIVuY>

I have posted this before, hoping something would click and resonate in the political psyche, but no such thing happened, they obviously did not care, or would have aborted that particular trainwreck in the making, now it is too late:

5. "No one has done more than Black Americans to help African descendants.

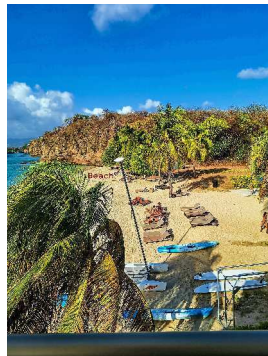

Examples:

Black Americans have historically advocated for other countries and ethnicities. At a time when Chinese Americans were scapegoated as the "Yellow Peril," Frederick Douglass spoke out against the Chinese exclusion act. Douglass also advocated for Chinese and Japanese immigration. In 1935, 20,000 protesters in New York, Chicago, Detroit, etc., marched to support Ethiopia. Black Americans faced violence from Italian Americans in support of Italy's invasion of Ethiopia.

The "Brown Condor," John Charles Robinson, an American, an activist, and a Tuskegee graduate, volunteered to lead aviators against Italian forces as a commander in the Ethiopian Air Force. Black Americans publicly opposed Japanese internment, the Vietnam War, Colonial Africa, the Philippine-American War, and the United States of America's Colonial rule in the Philippines. Cesar Chavez, an activist, labor leader, and founder of the United Farm Workers were supported by Black American Civil Rights activists."

Barbados, Caricom & Afrika Were Warned Repeatedly - BACKOFF

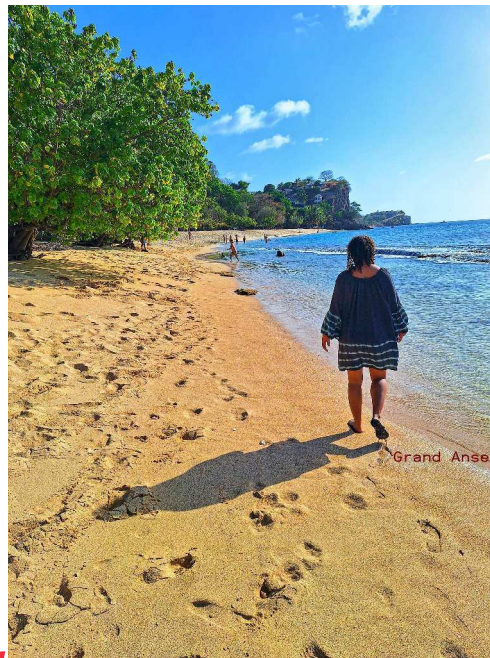

"The Congressional Black Caucus was instrumental in ending Apartheid, and Black Americans protested and boycotted Apartheid-owned companies. The Congressional Black Caucus attends meetings, files petitions, writes letters, addresses deportations, African trade deals, Caribbean disasters (hurricanes and earthquakes.), Indian caste systems, FGM/female genital mutilation (HR 6100), SARS (police brutality in Nigeria), Boca Haram victims, child brides, honor killings, forced marriages, institutionalized domestic violence, institutionalized sexual abuse, terrorism, etc. Black Americans fought against savage portrayals of Africans in cartoons, advertisements, film, television, and magazines (National Geographic, National Wildlife, etc.)

When a person of African ancestry is harmed overseas, Black Americans shine a spotlight, and the international community responds. Black Americans donate millions to charities, individually or through churches and organizations."

The reason I told Barbados and Afrika to back off with these games, because of the many years spent researching what our ancestors had to live with as normal. For Black Americans, multiply that ten-fold and arrive at the horrors they endured. Which we now learned, political flyers care nothing about, while living for the now. When the so-called schooled at the university refused to do anything other than circle the 14th-18th centuries but never advocated to put the true story in the schools or even write about them in real detail, that deliberate oversight singularly threw up a red flag.

All involved could have saved themselves lots of embarrassment had they not been so disingenuous. There will be no tolerating pretend pan africanists imposing themselves in anyone's reparations, or financial affairs. Particularly Black Americans' who wield massive power on their own, collectively. Should this continue, I am sure the next step is obvious; many claim to be lawyers, so ought to know what that entails.

Grand Anse Beach

No one is going to allow political wickedness in Black face to succeed. We know what our ancestors across all divides underwent:

therealblackhistorian

"The 1921 Murder Farm Massacre involved the brutal killing of 11 Black farmhands by a white plantation owner in rural Georgia to cover up an illegal debt-slavery system.

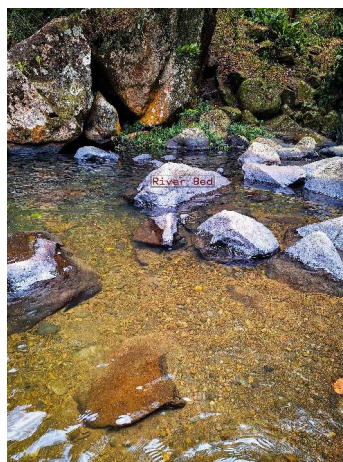

In the spring of 1921, a young boy found two drowned men bound with wire and weighted with a heavy sack of rocks in a river in Jasper County. Over the following weeks, nine more bodies were recovered from local rivers.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents started investigating Williams and his de facto Black overseer, Clyde Manning, for peonage (debt bondage) after a captive managed to escape. To hide his crimes and silence witnesses, Williams ordered the murder of his workers over a two-week span, using axes and drowning.

The murders exposed peonage, a widespread system in the post-Civil War South where local police and plantation owners conspired. Entrapment: Young Black men were arrested on minor or trumped-up charges and hit with massive fines. White planters like Williams paid the fines in exchange for forced labor, trapping the workers on the farm under threat of brutal whippings and death.

Leaders like James Weldon Johnson and Walter White from the NAACP worked to spotlight the atrocities and pressure authorities for justice. Based largely on the eyewitness testimony of Clyde Manning (who participated under threat of death), an all-white jury convicted John S. Williams of murder. He was sentenced to life in prison.

The former plantation site where the murders took place has since been developed into a residential subdivision."
